Incorporation Called Feasible For Novato

It is feasible for Novato to incorporate and, if it does so, it will be Marin's largest city, according to a final report presented last night by William R. Zion of Governmental Research Associates to the Novato Home Rule Study Committee, meeting in the Novato Chamber of Commerce office.

Zion, who prepared the $1,500 report, told the committee that if Novato chooses to become a city, it will mean slightly lower taxes for some residents and slightly higher taxes for others.

A 21-cent city tax rate would be necessary to run the local government, he said, if the city were to take in a proposed 50-square mile area, including Hamilton Air Force Base, Loma Verde and Raphael Village.

The rate would be 24 cents, however, if only "Novato proper" incorporated, he added. That area encompasses a 15-square-mile area, excluding Hamilton, Loma Verde and Raphael Village.

Zion recommended to the committee that the smaller area be the one adopted if incorporation is pursued.

BLACK POINT OUT

"Inclusion of Black Point would serve to no advantage to the city," said Zion. "It would be an extremely expensive area to serve. Indian Valley, however, should be included. Although it also has a small population (170 persons), it is an integral part of Novato and has a logical route for police car coverage."

Hamilton Air Force Base definitely should be included in the city, he declared. "There's not a single argument against it. I have checked with the legal officer at the base and he gave me half a dozen arguments in favor of it and none against it."

Exclusion of Hamilton would result in increase in the tax rate of 20 or 25 cents, he said. "This is because there is no cost involved in serving the base, while its added population (4,686) means added state subventions of $39,000."

TAX REDUCTION

Incorporation would mean tax reductions for property owners in most Novato subdivisions and in Loma Verde, according to the report. Street lighting districts there would be eliminated, with the lighting taken over by the city. This would eliminate a 26-cent tax in Novato and a 23-cent tax in Loma Verde.

In other areas taken into the city boundaries, Zion said, tax increases resulting from incorporation would likely be offset by reductions in gas and electric bills, since city status would place the area in a lower Pacific Gas and Electric Co. rate zone. "That could mean a $10 to $20 a year reduction for the average home owner," Zion said.

Should Novato take the incorporation step, he said, "it would be the largest city in Marin County in both population and area."

POTENTIAL GROWTH

Present estimates, not including Hamilton, place the area's population at 17,500, he said, with a potential growth to 100,000.

Expenditures of the fledgling city would total $381,890, the report shows: $201,877 for public works; $79,900 for police protection; $50,000 for capital outlay and reserves;

Sheriff Declines To Give Test For Police Job

Mountanos told the Independent-Journal:

"I am, of course, highly honored by the action of the Sausalito City Council in inviting me to conduct an examination to select a new chief.

"However, having been elected sheriff by people throughout Marin County, it is my considered judgment that it would be improper for me to become officially involved in this strictly local governmental function."

SUPPORTS GOERNDT

In a gesture supporting the present acting police chief, Mountanos said: "When I had the honor four years ago of having the city council appoint me chief of police, I appointed Sgt. Howard Goerndt as acting chief to assume complete responsibility whenever I was absent from the city. I wish to assure the council and the citizens of Sausalito that Sergeant Goerndt's execution of those duties during such times was entirely satisfactory."

At Tuesday night's Sausalito City Council meeting, Councilman George E. Keeney, with backing of a highly vocal audience, demanded that an examination for chief be confined to present members of the police force, and be given by Mountanos. The council, however, tacked on a qualification that such an examination was to be given jointly by Mountanos and City Manager Donald A. Duerr.

THREE DECLINE

A previous examination conducted for the city by Kroeger Associates resulted in qualification of three candidates, none of whom is a Sausalito policeman. The city council was informed Tuesday night that all three successful candidates had withdrawn their names.

What the next step toward selection of a chief will be was unclear today. Duerr said he had informed Mayor Howard Sievers of Mountanos' decision and that the mayor had indicated he would "take it up with other council members as a personnel policy matter."

Next meeting of the council is scheduled for March 3.

SUPERVISORS WITNESS A RARE EVENT

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, in session today, had been discussing the proposed Golden Gate Authority to operate airports, bridges and seaports in San Francisco Bay.

"I don't think we should either endorse or oppose the bill until we see it," declared Supervisor William D. Fusselman.

Supervisor Vera Schultz spoke up: "I agree with Mr. Fusselman."

New Juvenile Hall, Farm Plan Outlined

A proposal to cut $400,000 from the cost of improving the county juvenile facilities and hospital and farm, and an estimate of the added costs of lease-purchase financing were handed the county board of supervisors today.

Meeting in an unusual Friday day-long session to catch up on a backlog of work, the supervisors heard Administrator Donald A. Jensen suggest that the total cost of expanding the Lucas Valley facilities could be reduced from $1,900,000 to $1,500,000.

This could be done, he said, if the board decided to:

1. Continue using the present Juvenile Hall rather than converting it for use of ambulatory county care residents.

2. Eliminate many of the so-called "extra features" which were added to the previous

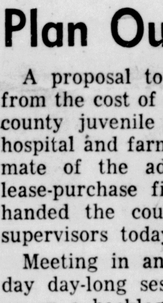
I-J Reporter Wins Award For Story On Plane Crash

On the morning of last Aug. 22, a private plane crashed into the bay between Marin Islands and Pt. San Quentin, killing three men and a 14-year-old boy.

The story that Independent-Journal reporter William L. Earle wrote of the crash for that day's I-J was today awarded third place for spot news writing in the annual competition of the California Nevada Associated Press.



EARLE

Reporter Earle not only went to Pt. San Quentin to watch the rescue attempts after the plane plummeted, but put together the facts he gathered and those gathered by other staff members in a story written under deadline pressure.

The smooth-reading, complete account was among those announced as winners of the second annual writing contest at a California-Nevada AP members' dinner last evening in San Francisco.

In the first year of the writing contest, one year ago, I-J sports editor Jim Gilmartin won first prize among non-metropolitan dailies for sports writing with an account of a 49er-Detroit Lion football game, and reporter Wat Takeshita captured second prize for spot news with his story of San Rafael's great Fourth street fire.

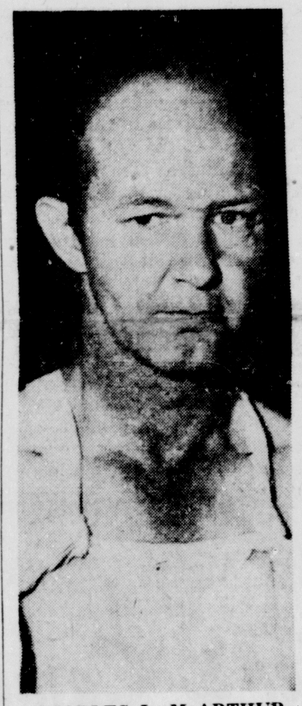
Kidnaper Caught In Chase; Victim Safe



CHARLES L. McARTHUR
He wanted money

FAIRFIELD (AP) — An armed kidnaper abducted a ranch wife from her home last night, then was captured today after a pre-dawn chase in which police cars pursued him and his victim at speeds of more than 120 miles an hour.

The kidnaper wrecked the car he was driving in a desperate attempt to break out of a mobile police trap.

Police seized Charles McArthur, 40, of Dixon, who they said had no regular occupation.

Mrs. Dawson, a grandmother, and her husband, John Dawson, 73, a well-to-do chicken rancher, were playing bridge at a neighbor's house last night when the kidnaper broke into their home.

When the Dawsons returned they were confronted by the intruder, masked with a woman's silk stocking and carrying a double-barreled sawed off shotgun.

Then he told Dawson:

"I want $100,000 by next Tuesday and I'll be contacting you in a couple of days. I'll be gone by the time you get loose,

Koch Luggage Cuts Back Work Force

Nearly half of the working force at H. Koch and Sons luggage factory in Corte Madera reportedly has been laid off in what Max Koch, vice president of the firm, described as a temporary cutback.

The men received layoff notices Wednesday afternoon without previous warning, said Roy D. Curry, delegate to the Marin County Labor Council of Leather, Plastic and Novelty Workers Union Local 31.

Curry told the Labor Council nearly half of the 115 plastics workers at the big Marin plant had been laid off. However, Koch said the layoff affected "20 or 30 men." Informed of this, Curry insisted about 55 had been let go, but said five of them were called back to work today.

Koch said the cut-back was necessitated by a change in luggage design and may last only a week. Pay scale for the men is $2 per hour.

Some Rain Due In Next 5 Days

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Northern California can expect some rain during the next five days, the Weather Bureau said today.

Showers will fall today and tonight in the north portions of the state with rain expected to hit the San Francisco Bay Area sometime Sunday or Monday, forecasters said.

Bay Area weather was marred this morning by low clouds.

Big Hunt On For Quentin Escapee

Ike Might Consider Russia Visit

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — The White House said today President Eisenhower would consider visiting Russia if future developments indicate it would serve the cause of peace.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty made the statement in commenting on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's invitation to Eisenhower yesterday to come to the Soviet Union.

But Hagerty stressed that Eisenhower has no present plans to go there.

The press secretary earlier had declined comment on the Khrushchev invitation, extended informally in a speech by the Kremlin leader at the Moscow 21st congress of the Communist Party.

But today Hagerty volunteered this statement at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters:

"Premier Khrushchev's invitation to President Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union occurred in a lengthy speech which contained very hostile references to United States leaders.

"It seems strange that Premier Khrushchev, if he really welcomes a visit by the President, would extend it in such circumstances.

"The President had no present plans to make such a visit —in fact, he hasn't received any invitation except through the reports of an off-hand invitation extended in a political speech.

"Ever since he has been in office, President Eisenhower has always made it clear that he was willing to go anywhere in the world if, by so doing, such a visit would serve the cause of peace.

"Should future developments suggest that a visit to the Soviet Union or anywhere else would serve to advance this cause, then it certainly would be considered."

School Bond Vote Studied In Larkspur

Larkspur School District trustees likely will decide Monday night whether to ask a bond issue May 19 to help finance a new school in Mariners Cove, trustee John W. Boyd said today.

Approval of the site by the State Department of School Planning was received today by Supt. Carl Tivel. The site is about one-half mile east of Highway 101 in a yet-undeveloped portion of the subdivision.

The Larkspur district would have to bring its bonded indebtedness to the maximum before it could receive state aid toward construction of the school, Tivel explained.

The Marinear's Cove school would be the fourth for the district. The site is now being filled for a new elementary school adjacent to the former Larkspur dump. The district now operates Larkspur-Corte Madera and Neil Cummins Schools.

ELMER BOCK
He 'just walked off'

All Marin Lawmen On Alert

A 40-year-old San Quentin Prison inmate, serving his second term for child stealing, escaped last night from the prison dairy, where he has been a minimum custody prisoner for two years.

The escapee, Elmer Bock, was the object of an intensive countywide manhunt today by shotgun-armed prison guards, Marin sheriff's deputies and police of Marin's nine cities.

ALERT SOUNDED

A general alert was sounded by prison officials last night after Bock was discovered missing at a 10 o'clock inmate count. One of 153 prisoners assigned to the dairy, he was billeted in a barracks-type dormitory there. He was present for the 9 o'clock check.

The dairy, outside the prison walls, is at the west end of the institution between Sir Francis Drake boulevard and San Francisco Bay.

Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff said Bock "apparently just walked off. He has no record of violence, and the people who work with him every day were very surprised he would do this."

PREFERS CHILDREN

Bock, admitted to San Quentin from Humboldt County, was described by Achuff as "almost feeble minded." He said Bock has a tendency to prefer the company of children to that of adults.

In 1947, Bock was convicted of child stealing and sentenced to prison. He was paroled to Humboldt County in 1951, only to be arrested several months later on another child stealing charge. He was convicted a second time and, Achuff said, given an indeterminate sentence not to exceed 40 years.

In both cases, Bock lured

School District Gets $498,584 In U.S. Funds

San Jose School District has been awarded $489,584 in federal school construction funds, Rep. Clement W. Miller (D-Corte Madera) informed the Independent-Journal late yesterday.

This is $400,000 more than the normal allocation for the district, said Supt. Philip W. Schneider.

Schneider said the jump is the result of anticipated enrollment increases of children of federal employees because of construction of 550 Capehart housing units at Hamilton Air Force Base. The funds will go exclusively for new construction and renovation at Meadow Park School, he said.

The federal grant is not the windfall that it seems, however. An amount equal to it will be subtracted from the previously determined state entitlement figure of $585,302, Schneider said, "so $489,000 goes back into the state pot."

Planned for construction at the school, located on Air Force property south of Hamilton's main entrance, are 10 new classrooms, a multi-use room, library and office storage facilities. The five existing classrooms, built during World War II, will be renovated.

The district hopes to advertise for bids by March 1, Schneider said, with completion of the project by November.

The school, housing 150 children from kindergarten through fourth grade, will be expanded to handle 330 children from kindergarten through sixth grade.

About 71 per cent of students in the San Jose School District are children of federal employees or servicemen.

Colts' Shaw Will Assist Hickey

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bob Shaw of the Baltimore Colts coaching staff has been signed as an assistant to Coach Harald (Red) Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers, Hickey announced today.

Hickey said Shaw will coach the ends and flankers and assist with the backfield of the professional football team.

Shaw, 42, a native of Fremont, Ohio, has been end coach and scout for the Colts for the last two years.

3 Marin Hunters Charged With Violating Game Laws

Three Marin hunters were summoned today to appear before U.S. Commissioner Joseph Karesh in San Francisco next Friday on charges of violating migratory bird laws.

Donald Zunino, 33, operator of the Lincoln Bait Shop and Bar in San Rafael, was accused of possession of nine strings of untagged wild ducks in his shop refrigerator.

Richard H. Garzoli, 36, a roofer of 618 Atherton avenue, Novato, and Joe Luiz, 35, a dairyman of Lucas Valley road, Lucas Valley, were both accused of illegally using 100 pounds of grain as a lure at the Salt Gun Club on San Antonio Creek in Marin County.

The charges were filed by Marshall C. Dillon, U.S. game management agent.

Looks like dogs are going to the people. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals reports that if your dog nips at the heels of postmen, chases automobiles, or barks incessantly, he may be neurotic. Well, we thought that was just standard procedure . . . like a butcher weighing his thumb, or a golfer forgetting how to count.

Anyway, the society has hired a noted canine psychologist to try to get Fido to face life. The value of this is questionable. After all, if a barking dog won't bite, why stop him from barking. We don't know how you'd go about psychoanalyzing a dog, but it ought to be a howling success . . . one way or another.

We understand that the waiting room for expectant fathers at a California hospital is labeled, "The Heirport." How flighty can you get? Loma Verde High-Priced Tract Planned Novato contractor R. C. (Doc) Briggs today announced plans to begin construction of a new tract of homes adjacent to Marin Golf and Country Club property in Loma Verde.

The homes will be priced from $45,000 to $100,000, said Briggs. Construction on the first house will begin early next week.

Number of homes to be built has yet to be determined, he said.

The first building to rise will have wood and plaster exterior, three bedrooms, shake roof, family room with fireplace, two-car garage and all-electric kitchen. Featured will be an intercommunications system, he said.

Senate Cuts Airport Aid $100 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—By unanimous consent, the Senate today cut 100 million dollars from its 565-million-dollar bill for federal airport aid. It also reduced the program from five to four years.

The action was a gesture along the path of what Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas called trying to meet President Eisenhower half way on differences in spending proposals.

JUST A GESTURE

But it was no more than a gesture because, although the dollar total was reduced, the proposed annual outlay was not changed since the number of years was reduced.

Johnson engineered this move as he had taken the lead in some trimming of a housing bill which the Senate finally passed last night as a $2,675,000,000 measure.

Senators stayed late last night to put through the big housing measure, first major piece of legislation they have handled this session. It goes to the House which is not expected to act before the week of Feb. 15.

SLIGHT MARGIN

The passage vote was 60-28, slightly more than the two-thirds margin which would be needed to override a veto.

Democrats trimmed the housing bill somewhat on the floor in an effort to minimize its impact on the fiscal 1960 budget and thus avert a veto by President Eisenhower.

The airport aid bill calls for 565 million dollars in federal grants compared with Eisenhower's request for 200 million. However, for the next fiscal year it would exceed the budget by only about 35 million.

NO COMPROMISE

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), sponsor of the airport bill, said he has no advance plans to make floor compromises such as the Democrats agreed to on housing.

Some Republicans charged that the action on housing coupled with Democratic plans for the airport bill showed that wild spenders were in control of Congress and that any hope of a balanced budget was wrecked.

Hub Chamber Wants Two Streets In State System

Fourteen directors of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce decided yesterday to push for inclusion of Red Hill avenue and Sir Francis Drake boulevard in the state highway system.

The San Anselmo chamber will talk to the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce about establishing a joint committee charged with backing legislation to incorporate Second street from Highway 101 in San Rafael, the Miracle Mile, and Drake boulevard out to Highway 1 at Olema as part of the state highway system, said George G. Washburn, secretary of the San Anselmo chamber.

BILL DIES

Washburn said such a bill passed in the state Senate last year but died in the Assembly.

Main speaker at yesterday's San Anselmo chamber meeting was Harold Dollinger, district manager of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, who said inflation is a bigger threat than the missile.

He was promised a delegation of at least 10 San Anselmo businessmen at a Feb. 20 meeting on national issues sponsored by the U. S. Chamber at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco.

COMMITTEE HEADS

A Von Rotz, president of the San Anselmo Chamber, announced committee appointments for the year. They are: Sidney Braverman, public relations; Lee Busolo and Ed Gates, advertising; Ben Badaracco, welcome and membership; Homer Rickards, John Slaugh, Marvin Christensen and Ed Gates, holiday decorations; Eugene Ostaggi, finance; Rickards and Slaugh, merchants; George G. Washburn and Lee Busolo, city government; A. N. Nipper, Samuel S. Knoles and Charles (Hap) Banfield, city cleanup, removal of the brick corporation yard building, and establishment of parking areas; Braverman, Nipper and Ostaggi, highway legislation; Frank Theron, Badaracco and Ostaggi, congressional action.

REMEMBERING WHEN — Mr. and Mrs. James F. Doyle smile in reminiscence as they look at book of photographs of their 50-year marriage.

Wed 50 Years, They Met At Masquerade

By CECILIA RAVIZZA

"We were never introduced," says Ruth Doyle, although it is 50 years of happiness she has shared with her husband, James Francis Doyle.

It was at a masquerade ball that they met. It wasn't until the guests unmasked at midnight that Jim saw what his future bride looked like.

Two years later, on Feb. 5, 1909, they were married in the sacristy of St. Michael's Catholic Church in San Mateo County. They celebrated their Golden Wedding yesterday.

James Francis Doyle was born in Liverpool, England, of Irish parents who brought him to the United States when he was 2 years old. Ruth Isham Doyle is a native of Utica, Ill., and after the death of her mother was reared by an aunt in Daly City.

They moved to Sausalito immediately after they were married. Doyle was a civilian employee at Fort Baker. After 14 years with the federal government, he built the building that now houses the Marin News on Caledonia street in Sausalito and established Doyle's Garage and Blacksmith Shop there. Sometime later he joined the Sausalito Police Force and after three years was appointed Chief of Police, a position which he held for about 15 years.

Still a strong, robust Irishman, belying his age, he is now with the Sausalito Sanitary District.

The Golden Wedding couple, still young at heart, live at 415 Napa street.

They are parents of a son and a daughter, and have three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

"We celebrated quietly, with just our children around us," said Ruth. "We went to Mass in the morning at the Star of the Sea Church, where I was baptized by Father Thomas Connelly of Seattle, then to dinner at Blanche and Earl's."

Most Rev. Connelly, now archbishop of Seattle, was a surprise guest at the party last evening.

Besides the honored guests and host and hostess, others at the dinner, which was complete with wedding cake and appropriate gold and white decor, were: their son and daughter-in-law, and their grandson Joseph; granddaughters Joan Dunphy and Mrs. Joseph McAlister (Patricia Dunphy) and her husband, and three great-grandchildren, Kathleen, Michael and Timothy McAlister.

Mosk Lauds Warren Court As Greatest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk said today "The Warren (supreme) court may win a niche in history as one of our greatest."

In an address prepared for the Commonwealth Club, Mosk sharply criticized proponents of the Jenner-Butler bill of the last congressional session.

He said the bill would have stripped the Supreme Court "of some of its authority—partly symbolically and partly an actuality."

Mosk said the American bar failed to awaken the country "to the gravest danger experienced by the judiciary since its role was established by John Marshall."

"Oh, yes," Mosk added, "but the vote was a whisker close, 40 to 41. And ironically favoring this punitive measure against the Earl Warren court were two Warren appointees, both the then California senators: (William F.) Knowland and (Thomas H.) Kuchel." Warren, Knowland and Kuchel are Republicans.

"Criticism of justices and of the court is neither illegal nor improper," Mosk said. "But my point is that there is a wide gulf between criticism of judges or decisions, and destruction of the court as an institution. This very week a group of the radical right petitioned Congress for the impeachment of the whole court."

Loma Verde Unit Dead Set Against Cemetery

Thirteen director of the Loma Verde Improvement Assn. reaffirmed their intention to fight a proposal for a cemetery adjacent to their homes at a meeting with Betty Barner, a director of the project, at Rickey's Rancho Rafael.

The meeting was called by Miss Barner.

The directors last night made it clear that "we will fight the cemetery to the bitter end," said William Vandergriff, association president.

Lundberg, Armet and Davis, Los Angeles cemetery consultant firm has proposed the memorial park for 200 acres south of Loma Verde.

Petitions in opposition to the plan are being circulated in Loma Verde by association members.

Newly appointed committee chairmen are A. J. Bianchi, legislative committee; Horace Edrington, dairy department; Captain Clarkson, rural health, McIsaac, finance and membership; Mrs. Vivian Farley, safety; J. H. Mendoza, wild life and public use, and Ralph S. Roy Jr., tax.

Commodity department chairmen, who will also be members of the legislative committee, will be Edrington, dairy; Chris Baur, livestock; Eugene Brown, poultry; Merle Lawson and James Grossi, sheep. Baur will be in charge of the county's 4-H Clubs.

Other committee heads appointed were Alta O. Johnson, direct services; Bianchi, public utilities; and Don Cole, Cal-Farm agent, and Robert McClelland, auto and life insurance.

START AT TOP AND RUN FOR DOG CATCHER

Firm Freed From Low School Bid

The Dixie School District board last night released Olsen Construction Co. of Santa Rosa from its low bid on a proposed addition to Terra Linda's Bernard Hoffman School and accepted the second low bid of Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross.

The actions are subject to approval by the county counsel's office and the local allocation board of the state Department of Finance.

Olsen's low bid, opened last week, was $105,815. Zoellner was second with a bid of $109,814. The Olsen firm later advised the district it made an error in its bid and requested release from the offer. The board granted the request at a special meeting last night.

Four classrooms and a multi-use room will be added to the Hoffman School. Work is expected to start in about one month.

Navy Rectifies Mixup In Bodies

GAFFNEY, S. C. (AP)—Two days ago, a shocked mother and father found the body of a stranger in a casket sent them by the U. S. Navy in the belief it was their son.

Today, the error rectified, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brunson Phillips are burying their son, Jerry Robert Driskill, 23, one of three sailors killed Monday in a highway accident at Pensacola. He will be accorded military honors.

Driskill's body was intercepted yesterday in a railroad baggage room in Chicago. It was apparently en route to the parents of Lawrence H. Geis, 22, Milwaukee, whose body the Phillipses had received by error. Geis was killed in the same accident.

Angry Congress Demand Russ Account For Air Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration officials, prodded by irate congressmen, were reported today to be preparing a stiff new demand that Russia account for the shooting down of an unarmed American transport by Soviet fighters last Sept. 2.

Officials said the U.S. government planned definite steps to follow up its dramatic disclosure of evidence which it claims proves the Russians deliberately attacked the helpless plane in Soviet Armenia with 17 men aboard.

The U.S. evidence included conversations among the Soviet fighter pilots who staged the attack and articles from the Russian air force journal describing such an incident.

A military burial was to take place today at Arlington Cemetery for two unidentified victims among the six bodies the Russians acknowledged finding in the crash and turned over to U.S. authorities.

The Russians claim the plane was not shot down but crashed and burned after violating the Soviet air frontier. They deny any knowledge of the 11 airmen still unaccounted for.

The State Department's disclosure sent the temperature of the cold war down several more degrees. It was regarded as certain to stiffen the Western allies in their current consultations on how to meet Soviet threats against Berlin.

Senate Democratic whip Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hoped President Eisenhower would add his own strong personal protest and demand to know why the plane was shot down.

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), ranking Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said the incident showed the Soviets have "no moral responsibility."

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) called it "sad and reprehensible." He said "it becomes more and more clear that some day we will have to take a stand against the growing Communist aggression."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) commented: "A weakening military posture invites such attacks. The weaker we become the more adventuresome they become."

French Chief Agrees With U.S. On Berlin

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and President Charles de Gaulle found themselves in agreement today, as in the past, to maintain Western access to Berlin. They conferred for an hour and a half.

American and French spokesmen said the talks covered a wide range of problems, but no new decisions were reached.

IN AGREEMENT

The spokesmen said, however, that de Gaulle and Dulles were in complete agreement that the West must maintain its routes to West Berlin, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain, and would not accept any move by the Soviet Union to substitute East Germans for the Soviet soldiers in those positions where the four occupying powers come together in Berlin.

The American spokesman said the talks in Paris had progressed in a similar manner to those in London. There Dulles conferred with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who is going to Moscow Feb. 21 for a visit that the British hope will ease East-West tensions.

GOING TO BONN

Dulles is going on tomorrow to Bonn for talks with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer about Western problems, primarily how to approach fresh negotiations with the Soviet Union on the German unification question.

Britons of all political complexions cheered Macmillan's decision to fly to Moscow for what he called a reconnaissance mission.

Dulles openly—and the French privately — endorsed the Macmillan venture as possibly useful, but they did not share the British public's expectation that it might start a thaw in the cold war.

Ferdinand de Lesseps obtained the right of way for building the Suez Canal from Turkey's Viceroy of Egypt in 1854, but it took him four years to raise the money to start work.

SHOOTING ENDS FOR NEW YEAR CELEBRATION

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists and the Communists today suspended their offshore island war for five days to celebrate the Chinese lunar New Year.

It was the third holiday cease fire in the artillery duel over the Quemoy Islands. Shelling also was halted over Christmas and the Western New Year.

3 Demos Rip Policy On Nuclear Plane

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A strongly worded statement by three Democrats appeared likely today to touch off a partisan battle in Congress over America's nuclear plane program.

The Democrats described as "almost incredible" and as a "completely indefensible use of the taxpayers' money" a 150-million-dollar a year administration program that they called a "holding operation to avoid difficult decisions."

With Russia reported ready to test a nuclear-powered plane this year, the verbal assault was launched by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.), chairman of the congressional Atomic Energy Committee; Rep. Carl T. Durham (D-N.C.), vice chairman, and Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill.), chairman of the research subcommittee.

They said the administration's program has no firm set of objectives, no target for achieving nuclear flight and no clear guidance for contractors in the field.

Strategic Air Command Shuffles Bases Into New Dispersal Setup

BEALE AIR FORCE BASE (UPI)—The U.S. Strategic Air Command is reshuffling its worldwide chain of bases in a new dispersal program aimed at gaining precious minutes in the race to get its bombers off the ground in the event of enemy attack.

Goal of the program is to double the number of SAC bases to a total of about 80 within two years.

Combination of the dispersal program with the new souped-up, missile-carrying B52G and B58 Hustler bombers gives the United States a powerful deterrent force pending development of intercontinental ballistic missiles.

THE MAN IN CHARGE

Brig. Gen. Charles R. Eisenhart, a lean, mustachioed officer, has been named by SAC boss Gen. Thomas Power to put the new dispersal concept on a combat basis on the West Coast.

He explained that the program "not only minimizes the effects of an enemy strike against us, but increases the number of targets that pose a threat to him."

SAC is building new bases, as it did here at Beale. But many bomber squadrons are being deployed as tenants or "gypsies" on other bases.

Inaugurated by General Power, the new realignment will place U.S. bombers in the sky within 15 minutes after a "red alert" is sounded.

"Speed is the crucial thing," Eisenhart said.

Some SAC bases, such as March AFB at Riverside, have as many as 130 combat planes on flight lines. In the event of a surprise bomber or missile attack many B52S would be jammed into a runway bottleneck trying to take off and many would be destroyed on the ground. SAC officers believe this could lose a war.

Eisenhart, commander of the 14th Air Division, directs SAC forces at Beale and its "satellite" installations at Travis and Mather Air Force bases in Northern California. Each of the three bases will be assigned 15 of the new B52Gs and 10 jet tankers. The first of the new bombers will arrive at Travis Feb. 14.

SHOOT H-BOMBS

These Boeing bombers can shoot H-bombs at targets hundreds of miles away at speeds faster than sound. They can fly faster and 2,000 miles farther than the early B52s because of greater fuel capacity.

But the big difference is firepower. The B52G can carry one to a dozen gravity-type bombs in its belly. And under the wings are nestled the deadliest killers of all—the "Hound Dogs," turbo-jet missiles that can thrust nuclear weapons at supersonic speeds into the heart of a nation's industrial complex from positions far out at sea.

B52G crews also are trained to use the Hound Dogs to knock out enemy antiaircraft sites and defense bases.

SOMEDAY, MISSILES

But the dispersal program is only a prelude to the day when a combat plane will be a rare sight at a SAC base. Then SAC's huge installations will be pocked with intercontinental missiles hidden deep in underground nests and ready for immediate launching at a given signal.

Moderate Accepts Italy Premier Post

ROME (UPI)—Antonio Segni, a silver-haired gentleman farmer and middle-of-the-road politician, agreed tonight to try to form a new government for Italy.

The 68-year-old Sardinian-born member of the Christian Democratic Party accepted the nomination of premier-designate from President Giovanni Gronchi after 12 days of political crisis.

A few days later, Fanfani also gave up his post as secretary of the Christian Democratic Party and withdrew from public life. He refused to try again to set up his old government.

Captivity Was Fault Of U.S., Reds Told Flier

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—U.S. Army Lt. Richard Mackin says the East German Communists tried to convince him that the Americans were responsible for his being held captive eight weeks.

The 27-year-old flier from Washington, D.C., was released yesterday after negotiations between the Reds and the American Red Cross. The U.S. government, which does not recognize East Germany, would not negotiate with the satellite regime and held the Russians responsible for his detention.

Four other American soldiers who had been held in East Germany were freed at the same time after payment of 4,500 marks—$1,071—for their "dentention expenses." U.S. intelligence officers were questioning them today.

Mackin landed in East Germany Dec. 3 when he got lost on a flight near the border, ran out of gasoline and parachuted.

Denies Castro death plot

Yank Denies Confessing Cuban Plot

HAVANA (AP) — Alan Robert Nye was reported today to have denied that he had confessed to plotting to assassinate rebel leader Fidel Castro.

The 31-year-old former U.S. Navy pilot from Whiting, Ind., reportedly made his denial to U.S. Vice Consul Hugh Kessler in an interview with him yesterday. Kessler declined to confirm the report.

The rebels arrested the American as he marched in their ranks in Oriente Province Dec. 26, five days before ex-President Fulgencio Batista fled and Castro's revolution triumphed.

Brought to Havana after the rebel victory, he told newsmen Monday that he was not involved in any plot against Castro but had wanted to fight for the revolutionary cause.

Police headquarters announced yesterday that Nye had confessed he had gone to eastern Cuba to kill the rebel chief and that Brig. Gen. Carlos Tabernilla, head of Batista's air force, had promised him $100,000 if he did the deed.

The police said Nye had made the statement voluntarily and had not been mistreated. He was being held on a technical charge of landing illegally in Cuba, but there was no hint of what further action would be taken against him.

Big Liquor Crackdown In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—"This could cause a revolution," said a would-be whisky drinker.

"Why, my bootlegger said he didn't have any vodka and didn't even know when he'd get some," said a social drinker.

"There ought to be a law against this," said a clubman.

For 50 years folks in constitutionally dry Oklahoma haven't been bothered by the law. But suddenly it is being enforced.

PAYING MORE

Oklahomans are talking more about whisky and probably are drinking less than ever before. And they are paying more if they do drink.

The reform administration of 33-year-old Gov. J. Harold Edmonson is trying to dry up the state and bring repeal to a vote.

"We want to give the people a clear-cut choice between prohibition and repeal," Edmondson said.

HEADS CRACKDOWN

Joe Cannon, 33, an attorney from Muskogee, is directing the crackdown on bootleggers as public safety commissioner heading the highway patrol. He has staged periodic roadblocks across the state, trying to stop the flow of illegal liquor from Missouri, Kansas, Texas, and Arkansas.

In the past month whisky has gone up $1 to $1.50 a pint, if you can find it.

"I just can't serve my people," a bootlegger explained. "But one thing about it, they're not fussy anymore. I've had people beg me for Scotch that never drank Scotch in their life. It was all I had."

Bill Asks Jail For Drunken Pilots

Present law permits a jail term and fine or a one-year license suspension, but not both.

Drive Set To Revive Failing City Churches

NEW YORK (AP)—Presbyterians today launched a million-dollar-a-year program to revive faltering city churches.

Reporting a widespread decline of congregations in congested downtown areas, the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. opened a counter-offensive, including:

1. Encouragement of full racial integration in urban parishes with mixed populations, and financial aid to churches that lose income because of it.

2. Special training for pastors of churches in congested downtown areas.

3. Starting of intensive "pilot projects" at 12 such churches acros the country, and eventual expansion of this plan elsewhere.

4. Development of a field staff of roving experts for assignments to faltering parishes.

The initial 12 "pilot projects" are at Cherry Hill Church, Baltimore; Grace, Chicago; Falls-Schuylkill, Philadelphia; Covenant, Detroit; Bethlehem, Minneapolis; Greeley, St. Louis; Roxbury, Boston; Christ Church, Milwaukee; First Church, Kansas City; Calvary, San Francisco, plus two mission district locations.

Louis Braille, a Frenchman who was blind himself and who died in 1852 at the age of 43, developed the braille system of raised dots for the blind.

To License Contractor

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Contractors' State License Board announced it plans to issue a general building contractor's license to Frank and Robert Antonioli, 90 Sea way, San Rafael, if no protest is received by Feb. 22.

About 1,130,000 Americans will have traveled to Europe during 1958.

SAN FRANCISCO'S NEW 'SKYWAY' OPENS

These are the first cars to use San Francisco's skyway shortly after it was opened yesterday. The cars are heading south past the Ferry Building. The 1.2-mile, $7.6-million-dollar project is now completed. "We've built all that's been approved so far," said district engineer Joseph P. Sinclair of the state Division of Highways. From its connections with the Bay Bridge and Bayshore freeway, the new double-deck section extends along the Embarcadero to on and off ramps at Sansome and Battery streets on Broadway. BOARD planning as desirable and requested by the federal government for Hill-Burton funds.

3. Combine hospital and ambulatory care in one building.

4. Concentrate the county's assistance for older people in a home care program.

In the $1,900,000 program which two-thirds of the voters failed to endorse in November, the Juvenile Home would have been in different buildings.

After a lengthy discussion, the board instructed architects Rolland Hammond and Eugene Crawford to "make a complete new study" of the county's 94 acres "for better utilization of the existing area."

No mention was made in instructions to the architects about saving $400,000, but Hammond and Crawford were present and heard the recommendation and discussion.

If the saving is made, the proposed method of lease-purchase would cost the county's taxpayers about $10,000 per year more than financing through a bond issue.

Auditor Leon A. deLisle estimated that cost of lease-purchase through a non-profit corporation would be 4¾ per cent interest on the $1,500,000 total. If it were financed with a bond issue, interest charges would be at a rate of 3½ per cent or possibly even 3¼ per cent, he estimated.

The total extra cost would be about $196,888 over a 20-year period, deLisle declared. This could be paid off with an addition of 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation on the tax rate in 1960-61, reducing to 3 cents by 1970 and 2 cents by 1980. This is almost exactly the same rate which would have been needed had the $1,900,000 bond issue passed.

Two members of the County Probation Committee, Roy Ibach and John E. Cahill, spoke in favor of purchasing additional property along the west side of the county area for future expansion. Ibach noted that a rehabilitation unit for juveniles is a possibility and extra land would be useful in long-range planning. He said the property would be less expensive now than later.

Pistols Found In Car; 2 Men, Woman Seized

San Rafael police, alerted by the squealing of tires, stopped a sports car about 5 a.m. today and seized two men and a woman, plus two automatic pistols, one loaded with a clip of six bullets.

Booked on suspicion of illegal weapons possession were William Edwin Moore, 21, of Fremont, Alameda County; his sister, Nancy Gladys McKenna, 27, of Redwood road, Woodacre, and John Small McKinstry, 20, of Forest Knolls.

They expressed surprise that the guns were in the car and could give no reason how they got there, according to Sgt. Lincoln Borba, who arrested them.

Sergeant Borba heard squealing tires at Fourth and B street and gave chase on what appeared to be a speeder. He stopped the sports car at Fourth and E. While talking to Moore, the sergeant spotted a .32 automatic under the driver's seat.

Khrushchev Calls Humphrey 'A Peddler Of Fairy Tales'

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev says he considers his recent Moscow guest, U.S. Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), a peddler of fairy tales. He called Humphrey a fabricator.

Khrushchev, speaking to the 21st Soviet Communist party congress yesterday, said the Yugoslav Communist party, accused of deviating from the Moscow line, was trying to drum up stories about differences between Red China and the Kremlin. He said the Yugoslavs, to substantiate these stories, used the Minnesota Democrat as a "substantial witness."

"You will remember that this senator recently visited the Soviet Union and I had a talk with him," Khrushchev said. "In the expectation of a noisy sensation, Humphrey, in his speeches and articles, told fairy tales—three bags full of them—such as the story that he had brought a special message from the Soviet government to President Eisenhower—of course no such message existed at all—and that I had confided two important secrets to him.

"Indeed, I could find a better partner to share secrets with than Mr. Humphrey!

"Sen. Humphrey's wild imagination ran riot when he began to make up his inventions about the relations between the Soviet Union and the Chinese People's Republic. In this he even exceeded the well-known compiler of fabrications, Baron Munchausen.

"And now the Yugoslav revisionists have taken this fabricator unto themselves as a witness.

"The very idea that I could have been in any way confidential with a man who himself boasts of his 20-year struggle against communism can only serve to raise a laugh."

Humphrey had an eight-hour interview with Khrushchev in November. On his return to the United States he talked with President Eisenhower.

Roadblocks Here Seek Bank Bandits

Marin County law enforcement officers set up road blocks on Highway 101 this afternoon as part of a Bay Area net to nab three armed men who robbed the Bank of America in Santa Rosa at noon today.

The robbers escaped in a 1957 green Ford station wagon. They are descriped as armed and dangerous. One was about six feet tall, had brown crew hair cut, and medium complexion.

The trio escaped with approximately $4,000.

Teller June Zuliani, 27, told police a tall crew-cut man, about 40, handed her a note reading:

"Don't be alarmed. This is a holdup."

Displaying what she described as "a big, black, square gun," he then pushed across a bag which she filled with currency. The robber then calmly walked out, got in a car with two men and headed east.

Mill Valley Hero To Be Honored

J. Stanley Woodward, Mill Valley telephone man, will be honored by local and state dignitaries and Pacific Telephone executives tonight when he receives a Bell System award for public service.

Woodward, 31, who rescued an unconscious man from a tall tree in Mill Valley a little over a year ago, will receive the silver Vail Medal and a $1,000 cash award at a public ceremony at the Outdoor Club in Mill Valley starting at 8 p.m.

Among officials expected to participate in honoring Woodward are Mayor Robert D. Huber, State Sen. John F. McCarthy and chairman Walter R. Castro of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

NOVATO

$49,613 for general government (council, city manager, etc.) and $500 for libraries and parks.

Revenues would be largely from gasoline tax and vehicle license subventions, amounting to $183,841.

Other revenue would include local sales tax (now going to the county), $90,150; liquor licenses (now going to the county), $7,230; property taxes, $41,169, (raised by the proposed 24-cent rate), and "miscellaneous" sources, $59,500.

PUBLIC WORKS

A city public works department, Zion reported, could consolidate services now being given by separate water, sanitary and flood control agencies.

Should incorporation include the larger proposed area, the city would automatically take over the operation of the Novato Sanitary District, but the city council would not have to pay for it out of general funds, he said.

To take over the North Marin Water District, an election would be necessary, requiring a 60 per cent favoring its dissolution, he said.

"The city could also pull out of the county flood control district,'" he reported.

MAIN ADVANTAGES

"The main advantages to consolidating these several functions," he asserted, "are local control and reduced operating expenses."

Incorporation would have no effect on school districts or on the Novato Fire District, he said.

"Novato is served and taxed by many—perhaps too many—jurisdictions. Locally, there are districts for fire, water, sanitation, mosquito abatement, flood control and lighting, as well as the school districts," declared Zion.

"With services increasing, further tax increases can be avoided only through greater governmental efficiency and coordination . . . Incorporation provides means not available to an unincorporated area in solving this problem."

He added:

"Novato has no official voice in regional matters—freeways, transit, airports, utilities—and there is heavy reliance on local property taxation for local services. . . . Locally paid sales, gas and motor vehicle taxes are not directly available to the area."

Should Novato vote to incorporate by next September, Zion said, the city would stand to receive about $280,000 in revenues before incorporation actually took place in 1960.

Second 'Our Gang' Cast Member Dies

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Death has claimed a second former member of the "Our Gang" movie comedy cast within three weeks.

Don Law, 38, who played "Fats" in some 20 of the old-time child comedy films, died here yesterday after a brief illness.

Carl (Alfalfa) Switzer, 32, was shot to death Jan. 21 in Van Nuys in a fight over $50.

Judge Grants Wife $900 Per Month

Architect Donn Emmons must pay $900 per month to his wife and three children, Judge Jordan L. Martinelli of Marin Superior Court decided late yesterday.

Mrs. Nancy P. Emmons, 45, won separate maintenance from her 48-year-old husband. The judge granted her $450 per month and $150 each for the children. She lives at 471 Throckmorton avenue, Mill Valley.

Emmons, partner in the architectural firm of Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons, originally sued for divorce, charging his wife was ill tempered, rude and untidy. She countered with a suit for divorce against him, alleging he ran around with Audrey Ksanda, Holland-born blonde who lives in a Sausalito houseboat.

Then yesterday Mrs. Emmons suddenly asked for separate maintenance instead of divorce. The judge granted her request and denied Emmons a divorce.

KIDNAP

so you might as well not call anybody."

He then ordered Mrs. Dawson out of the house and, at gunpoint, to get into her husband's car.

An alarm was broadcast. Shortly after 5:30 a.m. a Highway Patrol car spotted the kidnap automobile racing on a back road near Winters, some 50 miles northeast of San Francisco.

The chase began, with the kidnaper doubling back on roads in efforts to elude his pursuers.

Although driving fast, the kidnaper fired several shots, police said. They refrained from shooting in fear of hitting Mrs. Dawson.

The kidnaper crashed through the cars, wrecking the Dawson car and two police automobiles, but his flight was halted.

Police said he fired a final shot as they closed in and seized him.

children into his car and took them for rides. Achuff said in each instance Bock was suspected of having molested the youngsters, but they made no accusations of this and he was not charged with molestation.

Bock was denied parole consideration last month by the California Adult Authority. Achuff said this may have prompted the prisoner's decision to make an escape attempt. Bock was scheduled to appear before the Adult Authority again next January.

Achuff said about 20 San Quentin officers armed with shotguns have been patrolling Marin's back roads and main highways since the escape was discovered. Prison guards also were stationed at all major bridge approaches in the county.

San Rafael Police Nab Prowler Suspect

A San Francisco postal worker and fireman was arrested on suspicion of prowling near San Rafael General Hospital this morning after police fired two warning shots.

Stanley Hugh Disher, 34, who gave his address as 1374 Fifth avenue, San Francisco, was jailed under $500 bail.

Edward J. Raymond, manager of El Camino Hotel on Lincoln avenue and Mission, called police at 3:23 a.m. to report a prowler. Officers Leland Ahern and Leo Schwab closed in from Lincoln avenue side, while Officer Ray Bleasdale drove up on the Mission avenue side. Bleasdale heard rustling brush and noticed a man on the run. He ordered the man to halt, and fired one shot in the air. But this only made the man run faster, said Bleasdale.

The officer chased the escapee on foot, and fired another shot into the air just before reaching Nye street. By the time the officer rounded the corner, the man had vanished.

Bleasdale found Disher squatting among the shrubs near the hospital emergency room. He wore black tennis shoes, but carried a pair of brown oxford shoes with a screwdriver in each shoe, and a paper bag with 10 photographs of a nude woman, all wrapped in a blue shirt.

Sea Water Threatening Water Basins

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state Water Resources Department today reported definite evidence of damaging sea water intrusion into nine California coastal ground water basins.

Salt water also is threatening 48 other basins and high salt content was noted in 71 basins, the department said in a report on statewide sea water intrusion.

A ground water basin is an underground area in which nature stores fresh water. If too much water is pumped out, the pressure drops and sea water seeps or flows in to fill the void, often destroying the basin as a storage place for fresh water.

The department called for laws to regulate pumping of fresh water from these coastal basins. Salt water already has intruded as much as four and one-half miles in some instances, the report said.

There now is no law regulating the pumping of water from wells.

The nine basins showing definite signs of encroachment by the potentially ruinous sea water are:

Petaluma Valley, Napa, Sonoma Valley, Santa Clara Valley in southern Alameda County, Pajaro Valley in Santa Cruz and Monterey Counties, Salinas Valley pressure area, Oxnard Plain basin in Ventura County, West Coast Basin in Los Angeles County, East Coastal Plain pressure area in Orange County and the Mission Basin in San Diego County.

The report said damage in some of the basins is already severe, and will get worse if present pumping rates are maintained without remedial action.

Typographical Union Wins New Contract

Agreement on a new International Typographical Union contract covering Marin County was reported today.

Under the new contract, typographers in Local 729 will receive $2.96 per week more pay for two and one-half hours less work.

John DeMartini, vice president of the typographical union local and it's delegate to the Marin County Labor Council, reported agreement on the new contract at the council's Wednesday night meeting. He said today that actual signing is expected within a few days.

The new contract calls for $124.10 for a 35-hour week for journeymen typographers. The old contract set the pay at $121.14 for a 37½-hour week.

The contract covers newspaper and job printing shops in the county, DeMartini said.

U. S. Electrical Industry Observing Its Annual Week

Electricity Benefits All, In Both Dollars, Comfort

How does one measure the contribution of the electrical industry to the health, welfare and future of America—in dollars, security, comfort, progress, entertainment, or just plain good living?

During the week of Feb. 8 through 14, the electrical industry observes its annual National Electrical Week. During this week the industry points to the contributions it makes to the standards of living of all Americans, both in terms of dollars and comfort. Its theme is "Electricity builds jobs."

Hard figures hardly tell the story. However, let's take its effect on the economy — in terms of dollars. The American electrical industry in 1959 is measured at approximately 40 billion dollars—14 in salaries to its millions of employees and 26 in goods and services.

Americans live better electrically because with a flip of a switch they can be cool in the summer, warm in the winter—they can also turn night into day, cook their food, wash their dishes, and their clothes, toast bread, clean their homes, see a Hollywood show on television, hear a football game on radio.

"National Electrical Week" is celebrated again during the week of the birth of Thomas Alva Edison, his 112th anniversary, because it was his inventive genius that opened the way to the development of America's vast and vital electrical industry.

Surely with all his vision and creative ability, even Edison could not have been wholly conscious of the fact that his invention of the incandescent bulb would bring about such radical changes in our daily lives—that it would have such profound effect on civilization.

There are more than 65 electrical appliances at the beck and call of today's homemaker. They are, in every sense, servants — and inexpensive servants at that. Few housewives know that it takes only half a cent to vacuum the living room, or less than a nickel to do the family's wash for a week. For less than a cent, the family also can enjoy a full evening of excellent entertainment.

It was only 80 years ago that Edison made his first workable incandescent lamp glow for 40 hours. In the last 50 years, the progress of the electrical industry has been such, that one out of every 20 employed people today is in some branch of the electrical industry and related services.

No Windows? Let Ceiling Provide Light

Today a windowless kitchen or bathroom in the middle of the house can be better lighted than the same room with double exposure to the out-of-doors.

The reason: A luminous ceiling which provides a high level of even light throughout the room.

Luminous ceilings are even beginning to appear in hallways and living areas. Controlled by dimmer switches, these ceilings can create a variety of effects.

"A luminous ceiling generally consists of rows of fluorescent tubes about 16 inches apart and shielded by flat or corrugated sheet plastic," the American Home Lighting Institute explained.

The plastic rests on wood or metal channels which provide an interesting gridwork pattern on the ceiling. The whole ceiling then becomes a giant fixture.

If you use the first type of ceiling, make sure the room is high enough to provide the 10 inches required between the sheet plastic and the structural ceiling. This is easily done in new construction, but may be a problem in remodeling.

Of course, if you use the shallow fluorescent fixtures to obtain a luminous ceiling of the second type, ceiling height is seldom a problem.

Proper switching and controls can add to the enjoyment of a luminous ceiling. By dividing the ceiling into separate circuits, you can light just the portion of the ceiling you desire. Dimmer switches let you adjust the light level to suit your mood.

For recreation rooms, you may want to use colored fluorescent tubes in some part of the ceiling for dramatic effect.

One important point to remember about luminous ceilings: Their lighting is basically flat and shadowless. Used alone, such light is monotonous. It should be supplemented by accent light from wall or ceiling fixtures at various points in the room.

May Fixtures Use Wall Outlets

You can now install many lighting fixtures in your home even if you don't have an available ceiling outlet. You simply plug them into a handy wall outlet.

Accordin gto the American Home Lighting Institute, these fixtures come with decorative pulleys or tracks which fasten to the ceiling, plus a cord with a plug.

You first mount the pulleys or tracks on the ceiling. The cord feeds through these devices and holds the fixture. The other end of the cord plugs into the wall outlet.

Light Utility Areas

For your basement, the American Home Lighting Institute says you need at least one ceiling or wall fixture over the laundry area, furnace, workshop, and game tables.

COMBINES ADVANTAGES — New dishwasher-dryer combining the advantages of portable automatic dishwasher with mobile table or bar, represents new concept in appliance design. Unit has all the capacity and features of permanently installed dishwashers and later can be plumbed in as free-standing or under-counter appliance.

FAMILY PROJECT

Modernizing Is Fun; Wiring Is First Step

Modernizing is fun. Planning how best to utilize the kitchen for easy, comfortable work excites any homemaker. Installing electric servants for laundry chores is a pleasure to ponder. With the modern appliances on the market, with expert advice and good judgment on decor and space planning available, it can be an engulfing project to spirit the imagination and enthusiasm of the entire family.

But always remember, first things first. And the first practical step in home modernization is the electric wiring. It has to be planned so that you will not be disappointed after your dreams are a reality.

Adequate wiring is the muscle of full housepower. A heavyweight boxer can be big and strong as they come, but if his muscles are not trained and developed he cannot deliver the punch necessary to win. They have to be coordinated to deliver when and where wanted, toned to meet every challenge and fit to meet challenges in the future.

This champion condition is necessary in a home's electric wiring system. Wiring has to be coordinated to deliver housepower when and where needed. It has to be in condition to meet every day's needs and it has to be quantity and quality enough to be ready for tomorrow's appliances that are being planned to help housewives live better . . . electrically.

In your mind's eye, or perhaps you have your modernization plans on paper, you know what you want. You've discussed it with the family. You've checked out with the local utility for help in planning the kitchen, laundry, heating or any combination of electrical aids for the home.

Next, these changes and appliance additions fit within your budget.

Then here is the time really to start your plans. Contact an experienced electrical contractor. He'll be your manager to start flexing your housepower muscles.

Guided by what you want, he'll know what you need in the way of new circuits, outlets, lighting, or even another electrical "main" entrance which will bring into your home more power. He'll estimate the cost of wiring these projects.

This is the sensible, and in the later rounds, the most economical and safe way for you. You'll be sure of having housepower to meet today's needs and you'll have reserve punch for tomorrow's expansion.

As mentioned, modernizing electrically is enjoyable. It is an individual affair, too, depending on the taste of decor and area available.

Many New Light Switches Available

The sharp "click" of the familiar light switch is passing into oblivion as home owners discover the variety of new light switches on the market.

Dimmer switches, tap switches, silent switches, time switches—these are just a few of the many available. They can be installed new, or as replacements for existing switches. To help you pick the right switch, the American Home Lighting Institute offers this list:

1. Dimmer switches. By turning the dial of a variable light dimmer, you can turn a fixture up to full intensity or dim it to any degree. Newest dimmer switches can control several fixtures. These are ideal for living areas and dining rooms to produce different effects.

2. Tap switches. Instead of a back-and-forth toggle, the tap switch has a single button or bar. Touch the bar once the light goes on. Touch it again, and it goes off.

Silent switches. Basically the same as the conventional on-off switch, the new silent switches have been improved mechanically. The "click" has been reduced or removed entirely. Some silent switches are mercury-filled and are completely silent.

4. Time switches. These are commonly used to turn on house lights in the evening and turn them off later at night. They consist of a time clock and switch mechanism, and are usually installed near the fuse or circuit breaker box.

Smaller time switches are designed to turn on lamps, radios, coffeemakers, and other appliances.

6. Key switch. A key slot instead of an on-off handle identifies this switch. The person with the right key can operate the light. Others can't. It's handy when you want to prevent unauthorized people from tampering with the lighting.

Needs No Extras

Because an electric water heater requires no "extras" such as a flue, venting or a chimney connection, it may be installed in any room of your choosing, closest to the point of greatest water use. Shelves for storage may be built above it, leaving no wasted space in your home.

A Real Worksaver

According to a study made by Ohio State University, an automatic electric dishwasher in the home will eliminate up to 62.2 per cent of the time formerly required to do one of the homemaker's most tedious tasks, that of washing dishes by hand.

Check Old Fixtures

If your lighting fixtures are more than 10 years old, check them for obsolescence. Designs have changed drastically, the American Home Lighting Institute reports. An outdated fixture can make the latest decorating schemes seem old fashioned.

Make Sure 3 Areas Are Lighted

For beauty, convenience, and safety in your bedroom, make sure three key areas are properly lighted.

These areas, according to the American Home Lighting Institute, are the ceiling, bed, and dresser.

"A large ceiling fixture, controlled by a wall switch at the room entrance, is essential for cheerful over-all lighting, plus safety and convenience," the institute said.

Lamps may be suitable for small accents, but they can't provide the general light needed in the bedroom. In many cases, a small lamp will create dangerous shadows which a ceiling fixture will eliminate.

At the same time, light from the ceiling lets you see down into dresser drawers for ease in picking out the clothes you want.

A bedroom ceiling fixture should be at least 17 inches across and have four 50-watt or five 40-watt bulbs. Make sure a diffusing shield is used to cover the bulbs and eliminate glare.

Over the bed, a wall bracket or pull-down fixtures is practical. A 48-inch wall bracket consisting of 40-watt fluorescent tube shielded by a faceboard provides excellent reading light.

Or, if you prefer, you can hang 150-watt pull-down fixtures over the night stands by the bed. These can be raised or lowered to shed light as desired

"Don't neglect the dresser in your bedroom," the institute advised. "Many women, and even husbands, use the mirror over the dresser to aid in dressing and grooming."

MORE FUN WITH TWO SETS—"You can see what you please with two TVs," says this youngster who enjoys children's shows while his parents watch adult fare on the family's second set. New sets offer best-ever reception, remote tuning, slim styles and many other advances. Some sets offer sound system facilities for use with high fidelity and stereophonic sound recordings for people who want a family entertainment center.

Television Better Than Ever: Just See The New Sets

Television is better than ever. Improvements made in recent years have taken care of common annoyances of earlier sets and manufacturers have more recently been eliminating even minor distractions that often went unnoticed by the average viewer.

A look at the new sets in retail stores today might show some unexpected surprises to persons who bought their sets three or four years ago. After the shopper becomes accustomed to the new cabinet styles and tuning control arrangements, the details and advances in television engineering show up in dramatic ways.

For example, the picture is so much clearer nowadays. Improvements give sharper definition of the picture and accurate rendition of all the tones from black to white. Tuning is highly sensitive, giving greatly improved reception in "fringe" areas where "snow" has been a troublesome problem.

Another improvement in the picture tube allows television sets to be made in the new slim shape, hardly deeper than a bookcase. The new sets offer complete freedom in room arrangements with other furniture or in "entertainment centers" with radio and high fidelity or stereophonic phonograph systems.

Distracting interference from short wave radio signals or from aircraft are reduced or eliminated in another improvement to the television receiving system. Better tubes and circuits "lock" the picture in place to minimize wobbling, bending or rolling of the picture.

Convenience has not been left out of the manufacturers' planning, either. The arrangement of controls has been designed to place them in handier locations. And, as if that were not enough, optional equipment for many sets is a remote tuner which allows the viewer to regulate the set from across the room. The small, lightweight tuner can be placed on a table within easy reach.

Quick to adapt to the latest in home furnishings styles, the new television sets are designed to go well with the newer Scandinavian, provincial or contemporary influences. Sets having metal cabinets come in new decorator hues to compliment modern room color schemes.

The quality in today's TV set was only a vision a few short years ago. Yet all this entertainment pleasure is available at a moderate cost. Soon, in fact, a large percentage of homes will have two sets, according to recent sales trends. More and more families are buying a new set and keeping the old one.

Match Lighting To Wall Color

The coloring of ceilings and walls should be considered when planning your lighting.

All room colors absorb light. However, some absorb a great deal more than others and reduce the lighting in the room, according to the American Home Lighting Institute.

"A room paneled in mahogany for example, would need more light than one paneled in a lighter plywood shade," the institute said.

In wall paints, the amount of black or gray mixed with a paint largely determines its ability to absorb and reflect light.

A warm, pale yellow, for instance, will reflect more light than most of the modern shades of off-white. Yellow has a relatively high capacity for reflecting light.

Blues and greens, on the other hand, have lower reflecting powers, and would need more light. Orange and red hues fall in the middle.

Mixed colors will vary according to the reflecting capacity of each color in the mixture.

A mixture of yellow and green with a dull finish will have almost four times the reflecting power of green alone.

The institute explained that smaller fixtures are not necessarily called for when the walls and ceilings are light colored if enough attention is given to proper positioning of the fixture.

"The problem in rooms with off-white walls is to get away from stark and excessive wall brightness," according to the institute.

"This can be accomplished by installing a low-hanging fixture that casts most of its light down on the furnishings and carpeting, and little on the walls and ceiling."

The furnishings and carpeting will absorb much of the excess illumination.

Another way to do it is to install two or three smaller fixtures so that no one fixture will reflect excessively on the wall.

Cut Down Glare

To avoid irritating glare in your home, the American Home Lighting Institute suggests these rules:

1. Never beam light directly into the eye.
2. Make sure light bulbs are shielded by the fixture.
3. Avoid high brightness contrasts between the object and its surroundings.

87 PER CENT HAVE IT

TV, Once A Novelty, Now 'Must' In Home

Television has become so much a part of everyday life that more and more families are using two sets instead of one.

Ten short years ago television was a novelty confined to only a few homes in Northern and Central California. Yet in the decade since, it has become an integral part of famliy life in 87 per cent of the homes served by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

An estimate based on industry sales figures indicates there were 1,353,000 sets in use in the 46 counties with PG&E electric service as of Jan. 1, 1959.

By contrast, there were an estimated 340,000 sets in use by 31 per cent of the people in 1951. Two years later the number of sets had climbed to 625,540 in use by 51 per cent of the customers. Estimates at the end of 1955 indicated 955,710 sets in 68 per cent of the homes.

By the time industry figures are reviewed at the end of this year, it's likely that the number of sets in use will show a markedly greater rate of increase than the percentage of TV homes, according to industry sales trends today.

TV Sets Given Away All Month In Contest

A new television set will be given away for every day in the month of February in a free TV contest now being conducted by the Northern California Electrical Bureau.

The contest is being conducted throughout Northern and Central California.

There is nothing to buy to qualify for entering the contest. All that is necessary is an entry blank which can be obtained from local television retailers or from Pacific Gas and Electric Co. offices. A little ingenuity wouldn't hurt either, since the winners of the contest will be the 28 persons who write the best endings to this thought:

"TV's more fun with a second one, because . . . "

Complete this thought in 25 words or less on the contest entry blank and deposit it with your television dealer before the close of business on March 7. Dealers cooperating in the contest are those who sell one or more of the following brands: Admiral, Dumont, General Electric, Hoffman, Packard-Bell, RCA-Victor, Sylvania, Trav-Ler, Westinghouse and Zenith.

Inspiration for the contest is the growing trend toward two TV sets in California homes. With the wide variety of television fare now offered, there is more competition among members of the family in choosing which channel to watch. Many families are finding that the best solution to this problem is to turn the old set over to the children and get a new one for the adults.

In return, families who buy one of the advanced sets are getting bonuses in better picture reception, sharper stay-set tuning and wider-angle pictures. The new, slimmer lines and smart colors and styles make them more attractive additions to the home.

Watch Bulb Sizes In Your Fixtures

Keep an eye on the maximum bulb wattages noted in your lighting fixtures, urges the American Home Lighting Institute.

Bulbs of higher wattages overheat the fixtures and can crack the glass shielding. The heat can also shorten bulb life.

An additional consideration is the glare that can result from too much light in a single lighting surface.

A second set lets the kids watch their shows and gives you a chance to see what you please...in peace! Never any hurt feelings. Move the old TV into the children's room, then treat yourself to one of the new "slenderized" sets. They're an attractive addition to any room (no deeper than most bookcases). Sharper stay-set tuning and wide angle picture tubes make the '59 models easier on the eyes. Isn't it time you looked into a second TV at your dealers? There are some mighty fine buys available.

THE NEW TREND — The trend in modern is to well-planned and attractive kitchens. Many boast the new built-in electric oven and surface units. These new built-ins provide the ultimate in modern design with a choice of decorator finishes to compliment any kitchen plan. The deluxe oven above features all-chrome oven interior, completely automatic clock control, eye-level control panel. Matching two-element top units with a handy built-in griddle-in-the-middle top off the extreme flexibility and convenience offered in this new built-in kitchen. A choice of six striking exterior oven finishes is offered to go with any decor.

Controlled Heat Means End To Hit-Miss Cooking

It's been a long, rough road to progress from the first dim cave fire to today's modern electric range. When man first used heat for cooking great slabs of meat, he took one of the first steps forward toward civilization.

However, today we know that fire is not necessarily the most efficient method of cooking food. Today's modern electric range uses controlled heat. By a twist of the switch, surface units glow almost instantly and the oven, broiler and deep well cooker rise to the needed temperature. All you need do is put in the food and then forget it. When you return later, the food is done just the way you want it.

There's no hit-or-miss system when you bake. Pies, cakes and other baked goods always come out of the oven uniformly perfect because they're baked with controlled, uniform heat. Fruit and vegetables keep their vitamins and minerals locked in because they're not submerged in nutrient-stealing water that must be poured down the drain before serving. Even meats cook in their own juices.

Whereas a fire was used in the early days of mankind for the two-fold purpose, keeping warm and cooking food, today we want to avoid heating the kitchen and at the same time we want to prepare our food. With an electric range, the heat from the surface unit goes directly into the utensils with very little escaping up the sides and into the kitchen. Insulation in the four sides, top and bottom keeps the heat in the oven, allowing the kitchen to stay comfortably cool.

Since you cook on "low" or "simmer" most of the time with an electric range, it's economical to use. Because it's sootless, your kitchen walls and ceiling stay clean longer and bottoms of utensils are never blackened.

There's nothing new to learn except getting used to the convenience of a modern electric range. Your recipes stay the same, but controlled, uniform heat means the results will be more tasty and satisfying. The modern design of the range also means everything is within easy reach. We can all live better today when we cook electrically.

Adding Outlet Is Simple Job

New lighting fixture outlets can be installed in most existing homes without a real mess or high costs.

Homes with attics or crawl spaces over the ceiling are the easiest to work with, according to the American Home Lighting Institute.

"In ceilings of this type, plaster is broken only where the outlet is to be placed and little or no plastering is involved," the institute reported.

"Where there is no crawl space, the electrician makes a few nickel-sized holes at inconspicuous spots along one side of the ceiling to pass wiring through the joists."

The number of these small holes depend on the distance of the outlet from a current source. The electrician usually patches the holes, including it in the cost of the job.

The homeowner can touch up the plaster with paint of the same color as the ceiling. Or else he can plan to have the fixtures installed just before decorating.

SINK ACTS AS SECOND KITCHEN

The "Servi-Center" incorporates a whole new concept in kitchen planning. It makes possible food preparation, cooking and clean-up in one compact work area. Unit is pre-wired, has two outlets and timer.

Home Can't Be Modern Without Electric Range

No new home can be truly modern without a new electric range in the kitchen. Today's homemaker has more time for leisure and more time for herself, thanks to cooking electrically.

No longer must she hover over her cooking and fear scorching. Now with an electric range she need only set the controls and forget about it. The electric range does the rest. When she returns she'll find the food done exactly as she wants it and on time.

In general there are two types of meals that can be completely prepared in an electric oven. Both types require that all of the dishes bake at the same temperature.

One all-in-the-oven meal consists of dishes that all bake for the same length of time; everything can go into the oven at once, be ignored for an hour or more, then be ready for serving at the same time. Such a meal would perhaps include a meat loaf or roast chicken, baked potatoes, a vegetable casserole, oven-stewed fruit or rice pudding.

The other type of "baked-together meal requires a little more attendance, but does allow wider choice in menu planning. These dishes require different baking times, so each one is put into the oven at a different time. For instance, first put in the casserole, then the cake (made from a mix), then the grilled tomatoes.

Whichever way it's done, or whatever is baked, the electric range guarantees reliability—the same amount of heat for the same period, with the same result, time after time.

Easy to clean and cleaner to use, the modern electric range surface units burn off any spilled food. Oven and deep well parts can be cleaned speedily. The broiler pan slips out easily and comes clean almost instantly when washed right after use. Because electric cooking is sootless, kitchens stay clean and utensil bottoms never blacken.

An overheated kitchen is no longer a problem. The heat goes where it should—directly into the utensil. The oven is so well insulated that the kitchen is never uncomfortably warm.

The electric range is efficient, economical and designed for today's kitchens with today's modern homemaker in mind. She has her choice of numerous cooking "speeds."

She has her choice of numerous styles and sizes, too. She may select a free-standing electric range or a combination of built-in oven and surface-unit components. The free-standing models come in a large selection of widths. They may have one large over-broiler unit, two smaller units, or one unit plus some storage space.

Electric built-ins allow for even greater range flexibility. Surface units, in almost any quantity, can be placed anywhere at all in the kitchen. One or more ovens may be placed near or next to the surface units—or on the other side of the room. Ovens may be side by side, one above the other, or separated.

Another asset of electric ranges, and one which lends great flexibility to their placement, is their great ease of installation. They may be put anywhere in the kitchen that suits the homemaker's fancy.

Cooking electrically eliminates wasting the vitamins and minerals nature puts into food. Because so little water is needed for cooking vegetables, their nutritive elements are kept in, making for a more healthful diet. Foods taste noticeably better because they're cooked on a modern electric range.

The modern homemaker of today knows she has a loyal, reliable servant always ready to help, in her modern electric range.

AMPLE SPACE — Undercounter dishwasher has ample capacity for dishes and silver for eight place settings in two square racks. Cycle includes pre-rinse plus triple rinse following washing. Dishwater operates automatically at touch of latch-control.

Dishwasher Ends One Tedious Household Task

Grandmother hauled water from the pump in the backyard and heated it on the old coal stove in the kitchen whenever she had to wash dishes. Mother probably was able to fill her dishpans from the hot-water tap in the kitchen, to simplify the dishwashing chores. Some day in the future our daughters may be able to whisper instructions into a little microphone, whereupon silent electronic devices will clear the table, dispose of refuse, refrigerate leftovers, wipe table and counter tops, and wash and dry the dishes.

Meantime, we perform the thrice-daily tasks of clearing, taking care of leftovers, and cleaning up—but we don't have to wash the dishes, not if there's an automatic electric dishwasher in the picture. This boon to the modern housewife eliminates the most tedious household task.

The lady who owns an automatic dishwasher will never again ruin her manicure and roughen her hands by scrubbing and scouring tableware and utensils three times a day. She just clears, scrapes, then loads the dishwasher. At the touch of a finger the cycle starts. By the time the homemaker has read Junior's favorite bed-time story, dishes are ready to be put away.

The automatic electric dishwasher gets dishes cleaner, because it washes them with hotter water than you'd care to touch with your hands. Saves wear and tear, too, not only on you, but also on your china and glassware; less handling is involved so there's far less breakage. The automatic electric dishwasher pays for itself many times over—in happier living, in more time to spend on other more enjoyable activities.

Dishwasher Save Time, Hands, Breakage, Ohio Study Shows

The average homemaker, whose family consists of four to six members, washes an average of 127 different dishes and other utensils every day, seven days a week, every week of the year, according to a study conducted in roural and urban homes by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station and the School of Home Economics of Ohio State University. The homemaker spends an average of 73 minutes per day at her dishwashing chores, soils 1.4 dish towels, and breaks 0.37 dishes or glasses.

The Ohio study, after determining the hand-dishwashing practices of the participating families, provided each home with an automatic electric dishwasher. Then the families' automatic dishwashing statistics were ascertained, with these interesting results. Homemakers spent, on the average, 35 minutes per day doing dishes in the automatic electric dishwasher, soiled 0.8 dish towels, and broke 0.067 items.

Obvious savings are in 38 minutes less time consumed, 0.6 dish towels not used and 0.3 dishes or glasses that were not broken for each day the automatic dishwasher was used. Statistics, of course, cannot count the wear and tear, drudgery, boredom, anxiety, ruining of manicures and roughening of hands when dishes were washed by hand. Statistics do show the increased cleanliness of dishwasher-washed dishes, evidenced by lower—much, much lower—bacterial counts.

Comments from the homemakers who participated in the study indicated another non-measurable advantage—kitchens looked neater because soiled dishes could be tucked immediately out of sight in the dishwasher and not left on kitchen counter or sink. Dishes were washed less often, with most homemakers doing breakfast and luncheon dishes together after the noon meal, and then running the afternoon-snack and supper dishes in the evening.

An analysis of how the homemakers spent the time saved by automatic dishwashing revealed that family and community activities benefited most, with church and school affairs running close behind, then social events. Specific family activities on which the "saved" time was spent included helping children with studies, working in the garden, reading for pleasure, and "sitting by the fire sipping that extra cup of coffee." One working wife commented that, formerly, she had to leave the supper dishes until she returned late in the evening after a church or school meeting; now she comes home to a kitchen that's neat as a pin with the dishes clean and ready to be put away.

Kitchen Light Recipe

Proper kitchen lighting speeds the homemaker's work and saves her from nicks and scratches. Counter lighting every 4 feet is important for easy recipe reading and better food preparation. Ceiling, range and sink fixtures are also necessary, says the American Home Lighting Institute.

Kids Need Good Light

Make sure your children use proper room lighting when they read or do homework, the American Home Lighting Institute says. Turn on the ceiling fixture for general light, then use an off-center pulley or spotlight fixture to cast light in the specific study area.

Bulding New Home? Consider Kitchen Shape

A new house has many builders, but the most important one is you—its owner. Your ideas, suggestions, preferences, guide the architect, the contractor, the plumber, the electrician, the painter, in creating for you and your family a new Medallion home that's distinctly, and distinctively, yours.

It's a good idea to talk out the shape of your kitchen first. Should it be wall-shape? This simple, basic arrangement lets work progress naturally from left to right.

Perhaps the L-shape fits better? When you have two adjoining walls, this shape provides an ideal work-triangle and leaves the rest of the kitchen free for dinette.

Or consider the U-shape—one of the most popular and efficient kitchen arrangements.

Islands and peninsulas are becoming more and more popular, particularly in modern homes. This new treatment separates different parts of the kitchen into areas tailored to your own space, needs and desires.

When you're planning your kitchen as an attractive room for living, you must think of a convenient, step-saving arrangement of three or four major work centers.

Plan a food-storage center close to the outside door where deliveries are made.

For speedy, clean and safe cooking, have a cooking center with an automatic electric range—and plenty of cabinets of storage utensils, plus work surfaces for preparing food.

MANY PURPOSES

Outdoor Lights Can Create Beauty Spots

Backyards and front lawns are rapidly being made into night-time spots of beauty and recreation by modern homemakers using outdoor lighting.

The most commonly used outdoor fixtures are post lights, flood lamps, and spotlights in various styles and designs, according to the American Home Lighting Institute.

"Driveway entrances, doorways, and various spots on the lawn or garden are good locations for post lights," the institute pointed out.

"For those who desire portable lights, a post light with a spike which can be driven into the ground is available."

Flood lamps and spotlights can be used for numerous purposes. They can be mounted on the house, on the ground, or in a tree to transform summer lawns, trees, and flower beds into an attractive night-time area.

Dramatic shadows can be created on the side of the home by concealing spotlights or flood lamps in shrubbery, and directing their light upward through the foliage.

Small statues or trees can be attractively accented by aiming concealed spotlights toward them.

A tree can be given a giant lighted umbrella by hiding a flood lamp in an upturned position in the trunk crotch. The light-colored foliage will reflect light softly downward.

"In addition to these decorative effects, lighting fixtures can be placed over barbecue pits, tables, shuffleboard courts, workbenches, and other areas for outdoor recreation at night," the institute said.

Outdoor lighting also serves to reduce accident hazards along paths and steps, and discourages prowlers from disturbing the home.

by choosing inexpensive waterproof fixtures, an excellent installation can be made for as little as $30 or $40.

Electric Water Heater Is Safe, Saves Money

Every homemaker wants her new home designed for function as well as for beauty. She likewise wants it equipped with appliances that lend a certain amount of attractiveness as well as provide efficient service.

One of the most imporatnt things to insist upon today is that the home be adequately wired for all the many electrical appliances and housewares that go with today's smart living.

No new home is completely modern without an electric water heater. Obsolete and old-fashioned models can't give you the service you need in a modern quality home. When you insist upon an electric water heater, your home builder knows the house must be adequately wired to assure peak performance for all electrical appliances.

The electric water heater comes in your choice of two styles: round or table top. It may be installed anywhere in the house because it doesn't require a flue. It's flameless and therefore sootless.

Many people prefer to have their electric water heater installed in the kitchen, basement or bathroom because these are the points of greatest use. Because there's no long pipe run, heat loss is held to a minimum. Because there are no flues, venting or chimney connections, valuable space isn't taken up by extraneous equipment. The electric water heater is so well designed and insulated that shelves or cabinets can be constructed above it for those who prefer installing their water heaters in a closet, basement or attic.

There's no danger of burning yourself on the tank exterior. Heavy insulation keeps the outside cool and there is no soot to give you extra cleaning chores.

An electric water heater conserves your money. If not used, the remaining water stays hot for days. An electric water heater keeps you entirely carefree. There's nothing to set, adjust, regulate or turn on and off except the tap.

By insisting upon adequate wiring, you will be able to have an electric water heater that assures your family of plenty of piping hot water. Your family will live better and more graciously in your new home when you heat water electrically.

Pick Fixture In Showroom

"I saw just the fixture I need for my dining room in the latest issue of our favorite home magazine. Where can I buy it?"

Until a few years ago, the homemaker had great difficulty finding the answer. But today there are many places she can go to find the fixture she wants.

Here, according to the American Home Lighting Institute, are the best places to find and buy fixtures.

1. Distributor showrooms. Most electrical distributors (or wholesalers) who sell residential lighting fixtures maintain showrooms with a complete display. They are usually listed in the classified telephone book under the heading "Lighting Fixtures."

Many showrooms are open to the public and you can buy what you see. In others, you can look but can't buy without a contractor's referral. A small group of distributors won't let you in without contractor or his referral card.

In many showrooms, a lighting advisor will assist you with any lighting problems you may have.

2. Contractors. The largest electrical contractors in many cities also maintain showrooms, although these are usually not as elaborate as distributor showrooms. The contractor will sell to you direct.

Lighting Helps Keep Living Areas Apart

Open-plan homes, with one room running into another, can benefit from lighting that helps separate living areas and creates illusions of spaciousness.

According to the American Home Lighting Institute, living areas can be set off from one another by varying light intensities, light coloring, or by using different styles of lighting fixtures in adjacent areas.

"With or without room dividers, lighting can give each area a separate identity without reducing the feeling of spaciousness," the institute said.

Because overall general lighting is usually desirable in the living room, fixtures that cast diffused illumination in all directions can be used.

One or two spotlight fixtures in the area can supply drama by accenting a work of art or the fireplace.

To contract the dining area against this, a low-hanging fixture can be used over the dining table that casts most of the illumination on the table.

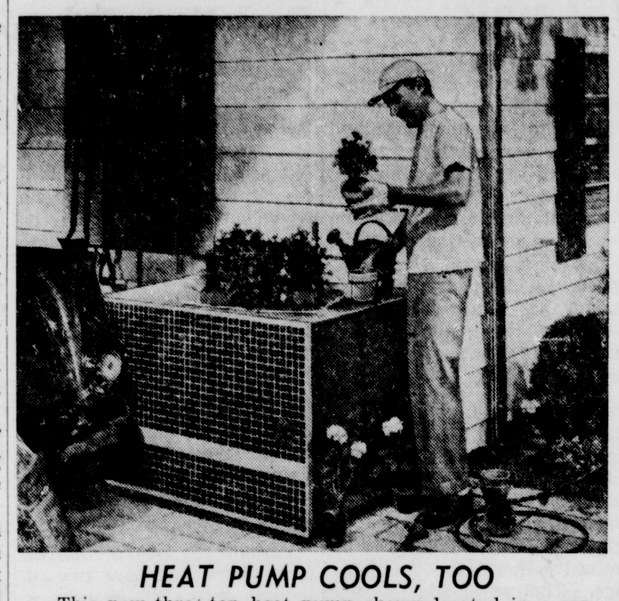
Thus, while the living area receives a great deal of general light, the fixture in the dining area is concentrated to accent the dining table. The result is a smooth and graceful division of the two areas.

In dividing the kitchen and family room, fluorescent light can be used in the kitchen, and incandescent in the family room.

Areas can be divided by using different styles of lighting fixtures. The contrast of a luminous ceiling against hanging fixtures is a good example of this.

Help in the selection of fixture lighting for open planning can be obtained from your local electrical distributor, contractor or utility.



HEAT PUMP COOLS, TOO

This new three-ton heat pump shown located in a carport, is a self-contained unit capable of heating and cooling a three-bedroom home automatically year round, using only electricity and air as fuel.

FIXTURES DO IT

Lighting Can Make Ceiling Look Better

Want to improve your unfinished basement or recreation room without spending a lot of money.

You can do it easily by painting the walls and ceilings, and then installing the right kind of lighting fixtures.

"The ceiling is the tricky part," according to the American Home Lighting Institute. "The exposed joists, flooring, and ducts that make up most basement ceilings are not pleasant to look at.

"But if you paint the ceiling and ducts a dark color and use fixtures that direct the light downward, you can create a professional effect without the expense of installing a structural finished ceiling."

Select a dark color for your ceiling which will provide a pleasant contrast with the coloring of your walls. A primer and one coat of paint should do the trick. Use a small roller to paint most of the area on the beams and the flooring. Use a brush to touch up the corners where the beams meet the flooring.

For exposed ducts, first use an aluminum paint to make sure the finish paint won't peel as the ducts heat and cool during the winter.

Once the ducts are coated with aluminum paint, you can go over them with the same paint you are using for the rest of the ceiling. (Caution: It's best to paint your ducts when the heat is not in constant use so that the paint can dry properly.)

The next step in to select lighting fixtures with an opaque shielding on top of the bulbs,

Select The Most Efficient Appliances For Kitchen

Once you've decided on how you want your kitchen to look when it is modernized, the most practical idea is to select the most efficient appliances. The refrigerator, for instance, primarily stores food. But is the interior suitable for easy handling of food? Can the children reach in without making a mess? Is the freezer unit well planned?

The new line of refrigerator-freezer combinations is designed for ease of storage and handling? Take for instance, the unit shown above. The straight-line look is just the beginning. Inside are the new swing-out shelves that have many advantages:

They are adjustable up or down and let the homemaker arrange food in the most convenient ways. She can put large bottles on the bottom shelf, for example, where thye are easier for her to lift out.

The shelves also are removable and each can hold over 80 pounds of food. Even the vegetable bins are swing outs and removable also.

The new unit at right shows the latest in freezer development. Easy as reaching to open the door, you can have ice cubes from the automatic ejector in the compartment of the door's inside.

Check your dealer and choose any of the modern, practical refrigerator-freezer beauties currently being styled for the modernized kitchen.

Water Heater Has Many Advantages

So you've decided you need a new water heater — for your new home, for modernization, or perhaps to add a second hot-water supply. Now you must decide which kind you'll buy.

First of all, consider probable installation costs. The electric water heater may be installed in whatever room or closet is convenient, by hooking up to water pipes and to an electrical circuit. For a gas water heater, the water connections and gas piping would be needed, as well as vent or flue pipes to carry fumes and combustion products to the outside, plus electrical connections for a thermostatic control. Since the installation of an electrical model is far simpler in time, material and space requirements, costs will be lower — no matter where in the house the heater is placed or how far it may be from an outside wall.

Second, how about convenience and efficiency? Once an electric water heater is installed and the thermostat set, you can literally forget where you have put it. It's completely automatic, boasts 90 to 95% efficiency and quick heat-up ability, gives all the hot water you want all of the time. The lady of the house will appreciate the cleanliness of electricity — no soot, smoke, or ashes — and its reliability in providing water that's always the same temperature. It's far safer than gas. And the fact that there's no pilot light gives assurance that you'll only pay for fuel used while water is being heated.

Next, think about the "keeping qualities" of the hot water after its initial heating. Electric water heaters are completely insulated on top, bottom and sides. This keeps water hot while it keeps outside surfaces cool. In addition, a special baffle prevents incoming cold water from mixing with already heated water in the tank. You'll never be paying to reheat water.

Fourth, since the automatic thermostat feature on an electric water heater assures strict control and prevents over-heating in part or all of the tank, the possible corrosive action of the water on tank and on pipes is minimized.

The facts line up in favor of an electric water heater. Check with your power company and learn what they recommend in size and specifications. You'll thank your lucky stars for years to come that you chose an electric water heater for your home

Plastics, Cloth, Wood Add Flair

Plastics, cloth, and even wood are the newest of materials being used to add style and flare to today's lighting fixtures.

This is in sharp contrast to yesterday's fixtures, which were primarily made of plain enameled metal and translucent glass.

"There's no problem in finding exactly the right fixture material and finish to blend with any room," said the American Home Lighting Institute.

One manufacturer makes a line of "wagon-wheel" fixtures in maple, redwood, and rustic iron. Another achieves an Oriental effect by using woven cane and wicker. Glass cloth and synthetic silk are used by others.

Parchment and plastic are used for diffusing shields in many pulldown fixtures, replacing heavy glass. Where glass is used, it is often flecked with gold leaf, or made in alternating clear and translucent patterns.

If Remodeling, Bring Your Water Supply Up To Date

If you're thinking of remodeling your home, don't forget to bring your hot water supply system up-to-date with an electric water heater. A bright and shiningly new, chrome-plated hot water faucet is just so much glitter when a chilling blast of icy water spouts out. An antiquated water heater can spoil all the time and effort you've put into remodeling your home.

An electric water heater anticipates the hot water needs of modern life and can always fill them. It will deliver hot water just the right temperature for household chores simply by your turning on the tap.

Best of all, an electric water heater may be installed anywhere in the home. Since it requires no flue, venting or chimney connection, it can be installed in your kitchen, bathroom, closet, attic, cellar, or utility room. There's no long and costly pipe run, reducing heat loss.

Gone is the old-fashioned water heater that was hidden away in a dark cellar. Today's electric water heater affords you better living because it can be installed closest to the point of greatest use. It's sootless, and therefore creates no dirt or ashes. The modern homemaker has her choice of the round electric water heater or the table-top type.

Heavy insulation assures a cool-to-the-touch tank exterior so that no matter what room it's in, children can play around it in complete safety. This insulation prevents rapid cooling of the water and saves you money because if not used, water will stay hot for days. A special baffle plate prevents incoming cold water at the bottom from mixing with the hot.

Once you install an electric water heater in your Medallion-modernized home, a turn of the faucet is all that is necessary to get hot water. There's nothing to set, adjust, regulate, turn on or off. Each thermostatically controlled heating unit automatically turns off and on when the water reaches predetermined temperatures. A pressure temperature relief valve gives you double protection.

So when you're remodeling your home, equip it with an electric water heater. Make certain your home is truly modernized. Your entire family will live better when you heat water electrically.

Electric Skillet Is Practical, Handsome Too

Today's designers of electric appliances have placed special emphasis on speed, quality and beauty of their finished products. Take for example the new automatic skillet designed for cooking king-sized portions for the family or for parties, a perfect electrical gift for Mothers' Day or shower.

The portable unit is square, in line with the popular trend. It can handle a family size breakfast of bacon and eggs, a lunch for a scad of hungry schoolchildren, also it can be that speedy helper at dinnertime for the entire family.

The skillet is a dream to clean, too. Completely immersible, it includes a ring on the handle for hang-on-the-wall storage. As has been the trend with these winners in the past, the handle carries a handy cooking chart with correct temperatures for many common cooking operations.

Check Home At Night

Make Sure Garage Has Enough Light

Adequate garage lighting is becoming more essential as wider and longer cars take up more room and much of the leftover space is used for storage.

Many garages have no light at all. Others have one dingy light bulb hanging on a cord, the American Home Lighting Institute reports.

Minimum lighting standards call for a fixture holding a 100-watt bulb on both sides of each parking area. The fixtures should be shielded to prevent glare and diffuse the illumination.

The two fixtures will provide good general lighting, and will light up corners and sides where tools are stored, even when the car is in the garage.

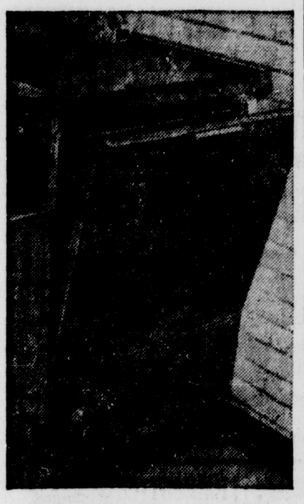
In addition, a switch for the fixtures should be installed inside the home as well as in the garage for safety.

Good Sewing Light

Don't sew in ordinary room light, warns the American Home Lighting Institute. Install a separate pull-down fixture over the sewing area for extra light to avoid eye strain. After sewing the light can be raised for general illumination.

Dishwashing No Chore In Up-To-Date Kitchen

In the up-to-date kitchen of today, the drudgery has gone out of dishwashing. The device that has eliminated this most-disliked of all household chores is the automatic electric dishwasher. If her family has four to six members, the homemaker who washes dishes by hand more than 1,000 times a year washes an average of 46,355 dishes. That's a dreary prospect to face, but a prospect that a dishwasher would quickly change to a cheery one.



CUSTOM UNIT — This custom dishwasher boasts replaceable laminated plastic front. Door and lower panels can be changed easily to any pattern, color, or wood finish in laminated plastics to meet planning and decorating needs.

The owner of an automatic electric dishwasher finds that the appliance saves her over half the time formerly spent in dishwashing tasks. And the time spent goes into clearing the table, putting away leftovers, disposing of refuse, and general clean-up—rather than soaping and scrubbing, rinsing, then wiping the dishes, glasses, flatware and utensils. The dishpan is gone forever from the truly modern kitchen.

With a choice of portable, free-standing, and built-in models, there's a dishwasher that will fit into every kitchen-refurbishing scheme. If plans call for installing new cabinets and so on, the choice would likely be a built-in dishwasher. If your plans are more modest and include only minor reconstruction, the placement of a free-standing dishwasher where a base cabinet formerly stood would fill the bill.

MARIN CAGE SCHEDULE

Tars Host Shasta In Feature Tilt

By JOHN KLEMPNER

College of Marin, now a definite for Golden Valley Conference honors, will host Shasta J.C. in the feature local basketball game tonight. The Tars are the only undefeated squad and will be going for their sixth straight win tonight.

In high school action, North Bay League teams resume league play after a week's intermission for semester's end.

San Rafael gets its chance to avenge its only league defeat of the season as the Bulldogs make the trek to Santa Rosa. The Panthers handed San Rafael its lone league loss in the season opener last month by a 40-38 count. The Bulldogs have been steadily improving and are now favored to make it six in a row in league play.

The Bulldogs are deadlocked for first place with Vallejo and a win might well give them undisputed top spot for the Apaches face the in-and-out but sometimes rough Tam Indians. Tam turned in its best performance of the season Tuesday in a practice tilt as the Indians routed Novato by nearly a 40-point margin. The Indians clicked on nearly 60 per cent of their shots, and with the return to form of star guard Bill Buffalow, they have every chance of chalking up the big upset at Vallejo.

In the top local high school game, surging Drake plays host to stubborn Montgomery. The Pirates have been improving greatly in their last few outings. The Drakesters' star guard, diminutive Dick Llewellyn, has been looking sharper than ever recently and, if he and his teammates play true to form, they should be able to stop Montgomery and keep their position just behind the leaders.

Third place Redwood will attempt to get back some of its lost respect as the Giants play host to the strong Napa five. Although Redwood is assured of a forfeit win, the Giants have dropped two in a row after a strong start, including an upset 41-48 loss to Marin Catholic Wednesday. Redwood may back into a first place tie if both San Rafael and Vallejo should lose, but can do no worse than third after tonight's action.

In Catholic League action, Marin Catholic hosts Riordan in the Wildcat gym. The Wildcats stand at 2 and 5 in league play and have hopes of at least breaking even this season, but must overcome a powerful Riordan delegation if they are to get back on the league win path.

The Novato Hornets take the long trek to Ukiah for North Bay League Section II action.

All the high school games will get underway with the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock with the varsity clash to follow at about 8:45.

The College of Marin is the defending champion in the GVC and is given an excellent chance of handing Coach Cal Riemcke his second league championship in his second year of college coaching. Marin boosted its hopes greatly last Friday with a win over American River, and stands alone at the top of the heap with the season more than half over. Game time is set for 8 o'clock in the Tar gym.

Ramponi Decisions Dick Kirby In Richmond Feature

Kirby was aggressive, but Ramponi scored repeatedly with left hooks to the body and won a 98-94 nod from Referee Tony Bosnich, sole official.

John Payne, 170, San Francisco, outpointed Jim Fisher, 174, Oakland, 4.

Bears Battle UCLA In Biggie Tonight

The leading teams in the tightly-packed Pacific Coast Conference basketball race have at it this weekend and something has got to give.

Top collision finds California (4-2) visiting loop-leading UCLA (5-2) in one half of a Los Angeles Pan Pacific twin-bill tonight. USC (3-3) meets Idaho (3-4) in the other contest with the Bruins and Trojans swapping foes tomorrow.

The outcome of tonight's Bear-Bruin battle will largely be determined by how well the Bears can contain UCLA's Walt Torrence. Torrence has been brilliant in his last few outings as he carried his team to victory almost single-handedly.

This is quite a contrast to the Bears, who present one of the most balanced squads seen in the conference in recent years. They lead the nation in team defense and will provide a tough test for Torrence and his mates.

Meanwhile, Washington and Oregon State (both 5-3) get a fair shake from the schedule-maker which could propel either team into first spot come Sunday.

The Huskies face cellar-dwelling Washington State (1-6) tonight and then take a break tomorrow. The Beavers face Oregon (1-5) tonight and the Cougars tomorrow.

Stanford (5-4) takes a rest.

The West Coast Athletic Conference chase finds Santa Clara (2-1) given a real opportunity to climb back into the league race. The Broncs host Loyola (0-4) and Pepperdine (2-2) this weekend. Pepperdine is at San Jose State (1-4) tonight. League-leading St. Mary's (4-0) hosts San Francisco (1-2) tomorrow.

Fading Ortega Underdog In TVer Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gaspar Ortega, the "hard luck" Sapoteco Indian from Tijuana, Mex., will attempt to halt his alarming slide in the welterweight ranks when he meets newcomer Rudell Stitch tonight in a 10-round radio-TV bout at Madison Square Garden.

A year ago, lanky Ortega was tops among contenders for the 147-pound crown, now held by Don Jordan. However, he lost four of his last seven fights on disputed decisions, skidding to No. 6 in the rankings.

Stitch, although unranked, is a 2-1 favorite for tonight's bout, which will be televised and broadcast nationally (NBC), starting at 7 p.m. PST.

Ortega, although three years younger than the 26-year-old Stitch, is far more experienced. The black-haired Mexican has won 47 of 63 bouts, including 21 via kayoes. He has had two draws and 14 defeats but, like Stitch, has never been stopped.

Pay-TV Baseball 'Set' To Start In Summer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Although faced with one major obstacle, officials of a subscription television firm are going ahead with plans to introduce pay-as-you-see telecasts of major league baseball games in California this year.

Basil Estrich, vice president of Skiatron of America, Inc., revealed last night that closed circuit telecasts of games played by the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants will be inaugurated in those cities "sometime in July or August."

However, Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, said "We do not have a contract with any subscription (TV) company at this time," although he admitted the plan was "interesting."

"No company has spoken to us on this matter in the last six months," O'Malley added.

Estrich confirmed that Skiatron still must complete arrangements with O'Malley and the Dodgers before the telecast schedules are announced, but he indicated his firm anticipated no trouble along these lines.

"We already have an agreement with the Giants . . . in which they will receive one-third of the gross receipts," said Estrich, who added that similar arrangements probably will be worked out with the Dodgers.

Estrich also revealed that Skiatron hopes to add college football games to its year-round programs of sports and regular Pay-TV shows in California later this year.

"We have spoken to members of the N.C.A.A. television committee about including football games in our programs," he said. "We have not arrived at any understanding yet, but I understand the committee is considering our proposals."

Another Skiatron spokesman said that once Pay-TV is instituted in California, viewers will be able to select four different programs during normal telecasting hours, including cultural, musical and movie shows, in addition to baseball.

FOR THE MARCH OF DIMES

Knee-Ball Football Game At Kentfield

If you happen to see 12 grown men crawling around on their knees at the College of Marin football field in Kentfield tomorrow afternoon, don't call the paddy wagon.

They're only doing their bit for charity.

In an effort to raise funds for the March of Dimes, these dozen Marin Countians have dreamed up a game they call "Knee-Ball," which is football played on your knees.

The game will start at 1 p.m. and no admission will be charged, although spectators will be asked to contribute to the March of Dimes.

Captain of the "Tovani Terrors" is Gordon Tovani of Kentfield, 32-year-old salesman. The balance of his six-man team includes Les Williams, a jewelry salesman; Norman Travis, a school teacher; Ken Corsiglia, a liquor salesman; Frank Lucas, a realtor; and Al Carr, a psychologist.

"Carr will give us a psychological advantage," said Tovani.

The opposition, known as the "San Rafael Fighting Irish," is captained by Jim Gilmartin, sports editor of the Independent-Journal. His five teammates are Jack McDonough, a Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. executive; Joe Sullivan, a fireman; Thomas McGrath, a jeweler; and Richard and Bob Nave of the Redwood Music Co.

Naturally, some of the collegiate football rules have to be altered, such as reducing the size of the playing area to 50 yards long and 15 yards wide.

Some other rules:

Punts and kickoffs must be thrown from a kneeling position; a ball carrier is "down" when any part of his upper torso, except arms and hands, touches the turf or when both his knees leave the ground; penalties will be reduced from 15 to 7 yards and from 5 to 3 yards, for such infractions as holding, clipping (sitting on back of opponent's legs), offsides, or leaving kneeling position during a play.

Officials who have donated their services are Jim Baxter, former captain of the California Bears, and Joe Ferriter of San Rafael.

Having never played this game before, the teams cannot guarantee spectators of a thrilling battle, but they agreed to give it all they've got.

The game will NOT be televised.

Nice Guy Buck Shaw Being Eased Out Of Coach Job At Philadelphia

How would you like to wake up some morning and read your own obituary in the daily newspapers?

CONNOLLY

That's about the way our old friend Lawrence Timothy "Buck" Shaw might have felt last week when he scanned the wire story out of Philadelphia that Norm Van Brocklin is quietly being groomed to take over from Shaw as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, beginning in 1960.

We have known and admired Buck Shaw for over 30 years, and somehow this seems a pretty sneaky way to grease the skids under a swell guy.

If the measure of success for a football coach is to be found in the won and lost column, I guess you would have to say that Shaw has missed being a "great" coach.

But if the measure is struck by a man's influence on his fellow man, you would have to put Buck right back at the top of the heap.

Buck is a living example of the widely accepted sports axiom—"Nice guys never win."

It was way back in 1929 that Buck Shaw brought his quiet manner and gentlemanly tactics to the University of Santa Clara.

Win or loose his Broncos always reflected the sportsmanship of their coach, and Buck's upright figure and silver thatch were always a heart-warming sight.

Another tribute, and a great one, was the fact that his Santa Clara team was always welcomed on the schedules of "big brothers" at Stanford and California — even if he did occasionally bite the hands that fed him.

After the war years Shaw took over at Cal for a year, and then was a natural to launch the San Francisco 49ers into the newly-created All-America Conference in 1946 and then into the National Football League until the end of the 1954 season.

Shaw turned out great crowd pleasers in both leagues, but could never quite pull off a championship.

The late Tony Morabito, owner of the 49ers, finally eased him out.

Next came a session as "advisory coach" to the newly created Air Force Academy—and another kick in the slats. After building these kids through their freshman, sophomore and junior years, the story goes that the Air Force brass was not satisfied with Shaw's won and lost record so orders came from the Pentagon and Buck was out again.

Ironically, this same team went to an undefeated season last year and post season glory, and produced the "deathless" remark of team captain Brock Strom, explaining the team's winning streak—it must be our new coach; he's the only thing that is new around here!

This remark, mind you, from a boy Buck Shaw had coached to All-America stature.

Dugout Continues Unbeaten Streak

The Dugout Dandies, paced by Glen Robinson with 22 points, defeated Bartholow Heating, 76-53 Wednesday to continue as the only undefeated team in the San Rafael Recreation and Parks Department's Men's Basketball League.

Robinson was followed by Bob Liebe with 13 points and Bob Stout with 11 points.

Tom Redmayne of Bartholow won the game scoring honors with 23 points.

In the second game, Mill Valley Boy's Club edged Schaefer's in a close battle, 50-48. Game scoring honors went to Wayne Kennedy of Mill Valley with 14 points. Milt Hain led Schaefer's attack with 13 markers, followed by Paul Knoles with 11.

Moore Gives Exhibition

Neither fighter attempted to do much damage, but the fight was fast-paced and pleased a crowd of 2,893.

Giants Sign Four More

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Four more San Francisco Giants have signed 1959 contracts bringing the total in the fold to 29.

Latest to agree were pitchers Curt Barclay and John Fitzgerald, catcher Roger McCardle and infielder Ben Valenzuela. All are minor leaguers being given a shot at varsity spots.

Barclay posted a 9-9 mark with the Giants in 1957, but a sore shoulder hampered him last season and he did most of his work with the Phoenix farm club with a 12-8 mark. A right hander, he could figure prominently for the club should he regain his 1957 form. He worked 15 innings with the Giants last season and had a 1-0 record.

Fitzgerald, a left-hander, came out of military service late in the 1958 season, and started the final game for the Giants. He went three innings against St. Louis giving up two hits and a run. He struck out three.

McCardle played with Phoenix and Springfield last season hitting .310 with the latter club. Valenzuela came in a trade from St. Louis. He batted .284 for the Cardinals' Omaha club while playing third base.

Fights Last Night

RICHMOND, Calif. — Art Ramponi, 137, Richmond, outpointed Dick Kirby, 135, Los Angeles, 10.

Archery Shoot Slated Sunday

Northwoods Bowmen's Club of Marin will stage an archery shoot Sunday at its Santa Venetia range and has invited all bowmen in the county to take part.

Competition will be on the 42-target range while a new junior range of 14 targets has been prepared for the younger archers.

Registration is from 9 to 9:30 a.m.

Rhubarb Awarded Nassau Race Win

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—The 40-foot Class C yawl Rhubarb won the 21st annual Miami-Nassau race, officials decided after a slightly larger rival, Callooh, had been acclaimed unofficial victor.

There was a three-minute, two-second margin in Rhubarb's favor after the corrected-time computation took into account the fact that Class C craft started 15 minutes after Callooh and other Class B entries.

The winning boat made the 184-mile run in 30 hours, 58 minutes, 14 seconds. Her corrected time was 25:51.38. Rhubarb also won Class C laurels.

Callooh, a 42-foot yawl, won Class B in 25:55.04. Class A was won by Caribbee of the Cruising Club of America, in 28:57.03.

SUSPECTED PARTNERS IN SLAYING MEET

As a photographer records the dramatic scene, Mrs. Gemma Caruana turns away from the man (right) accused of killing her husband with her assistance. The meeting between her and John C. Neely, 32-year-old crippled accountant, was at Los Angeles police headquarters yesterday. Both have been booked on suspicion of murder for the gun-slaying of Ronald Caruana, jobless photographer whose body was found in the trunk of an abandoned car. (AP Wirephoto)

Woman Hires Man To Kill Boss' Wife

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A private secretary confessed today she tried to hire a professional killer to murder her employer's wife because she was in love with her employer.

The plot failed because the prospective killer turned out to be a detective.

John J. Kelly, chief police inspector, said the secretary, Pauline Weiss, a tall, 48-year-old brunette, even went so far as to make two down payments totalling $225 toward a $600 murder fee.

The balance of $375 was to have been paid COD—"collect on death" of the intended victim, Muriel Griffin of suburban Devon.

Miss Weiss' employer, Willard K. Griffin, 58, said he has been happily married for 33 years. Griffin said he was shocked by his secretary's arrest and of her expressed love for him.

Police said Griffin had no knowledge of the murder plot. Miss Weiss had been his secretary the past three years.

Kelly said police arrested Miss Weiss yesterday after she paid $150 to a city detective posing as a hired killer. Ten days ago, the inspector said, the woman had given $75 to an unidentified underworld character who then tipped off police.

U.S. Files Suit Charging Alabama Vote Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers today filed suit in U.S. District Court at Montgomery, Ala., charging the Board of Registrars of Macon County, Ala., with discriminating against Negroes seeking to qualify as voters.

The suit is the second of its kind under the 1957 Civil Rights Act designed to protect voting rights.

An action against the registrars of Terrell County, Ga., is now awaiting trial.

Today's suit named as defendants the Board of Registrars of Macon County and Grady Rogers and E. P. Livingston, two registrars who resigned after refusing to testify last December before the Civil Rights Commission hearing.

In today's action, the Justice Department seeks an injunction to bar permanently alleged discriminations in the registration process.

Injured Girl Gains

Maria Gonzales, 4-year-old Nicasio girl who was critically injured 11 days ago when 40 bales of hay fell from a passing truck directly on top of the station wagon in which she was riding, is improving satisfactorily at Marin General Hospital, a spokesman said today.

ABOUT THE

Tamalpais Union High School District

Special Election, Tuesday, Feb. 17

to increase the rate ceiling from $1.25 to $1.90

The Tamalpais Union High School District consists of Drake, Redwood and Tamalpais High Schools

This is an economics lesson in how the cost of education has increased in the last ten years. It's not an easy lesson. But the Citizens Committee for Education knows that every intelligent voter wants facts — not rumors, accusations or unverified statements. Good education costs money. These facts and figures will convince you, the Citizens Committee sincerely believes, why it is imperative to approve the rate increase, why you should

Vote YES For Education

Why is more money needed for Drake, Redwood and Tam?

	1948-49	1958-59 (budgeted)	per cent increase	average annual increase
1. Revenue per student	$476.12	$628.87*	32.1%	2.9%
2. Expenditure per student	$401.07	$671.53*	67.4%	6.1%

*(both figures include retirement program and use of schools as "civic centers," expenditures required by law)

Why have expenditures increased three times as fast as income?

	1948-49	1958-59	per cent increase
1. Number of high schools	1	3	200%
2. Average daily attendance	1504	3300 (est.)	119.4%
3. Total cost of living (1947-49 avg.):	100	127.9	27.9%

(NOTE: These figures are for San Francisco, from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, and are the closest available figures. The Bureau does not compile statistics for Marin.)

4. Costs of goods and services:
Teacher cost per pupil	$220.50	$358.53	62.6%
History text	$ 3.40	$ 4.88	44.0%
Chemistry text	$ 3.08	$ 4.96	61.0%
Student desk	$ 20.45	$ 31.15	52.3%
50-lbs. ruled ink paper	$ .77	$ .92	19.4%

Has the tax rate changed?

NOTE: By law, the Board of Trustees must operate within a MAXIMUM tax rate ceiling. In SIX of the past ten years, the Board has been able to stay below this ceiling.

	1948-49	1958-59	Per Cent increase
1. Operating tax (which pays solely for the day-to-day operation of the three high schools)	$ 1.23	$ 1.25	1.6%
2. Total school taxes (see below)	$ 1.25	$ 1.55	24%

1948-49 total taxes:	$1.23	.02	—	—	$ 1.25
1958-59 total taxes:	$1.25	.20	.05	.05	$ 1.55

These three items are required by law. They have nothing to do with day-to-day costs of running the schools. "Civic center" is the law which requires that schools be open to public meetings (e.g., Scouts), and recreation (e.g., Red Cross swim classes).

What will the future be, financially, if the rate ceiling isn't raised?

1. Projected revenue per student, 1959-60: $583.70, a decrease of 7.18%
2. Expenses? It would be impossible, with a revenue decrease of 7.18%, to continue even the present program, which already has been curtailed.
3. Why will revenue drop in 1959-60, if the rate ceiling isn't raised ?

State money, per student	$ 149.46	$ 127.77 (Est.)	14.9%

This will decrease because, under the law, as local assessed valuation per pupil increases, state money decreases; it will decrease also, because the district has had to eliminate both the driver training program and summer schools — and although the District must pay to get these started, the State repays ALL COSTS FOR BOTH.

4. But doesn't the increase in assessed valuation bring in enough more money to compensate for the loss of state money? NO, BECAUSE THE INCREASE DOESN'T KEEP UP WITH THE STEADY INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF PUPILS. Here are the present and projected figures for the money brought in by local taxes:

1958-59 $1,523,037 which equals $461.33 per pupil
1959-60 $1,630,570 which equals $441.88 per pupil

Want an "A" on your lesson? Then vote YES. Good schools mean a good community. The rate increase will continue the fine educational program now being offered at Drake, Redwood and Tam High Schools.

VOTE FOR EDUCATION! VOTE YES TUES., FEB. 17

CITIZENS COMMITTEE FOR EDUCATION
Howard I. McGill, Chairman

For those who have asked about the cost of administration in the District, the portion of the total operating budget spent on administration is less now than it was in 1948-49. Then it was 4.49%; for 1958-59, it is only 4.24%.

LITTLE DONALD FALK is quite intrigued with this Valentine which will be the theme of the Tuesday Fashion Focus luncheon at Rickey's Rancho Rafael. Two of the models of Pixie Parents who will model in the Tuesday show are, left to right, Mesdames Arthur Falk and Jerry Mathis.

MRS. LUCIANO SABELLA and daughter, Lisa, will be among those modeling fashions for spring from the Ross Valley Shop in Kentfield. Luncheon on Tuesday is served at 12:30 o'clock with the fashion show at 1 p.m. Penthouse Coiffures of Kentfield will do the hair styles.

Luncheon To Feature Tiny Tots As Models

"Fashion Focus," the popular fashion show luncheon at Rickey's, will say it with hearts and flowers on Tuesday when it honors the Pixie Parents of the Marin Art and Garden Center, and asks "Won't You Be My Valentine?"

The Ross Valley Shop of Kentfield will present the first showing of their spring fashions highlighted by the new Mr. Mort's, Lanz, and Glen of Michigan favorites. Spring loves in cocktail dresses, silk prints, imported cottons and fetching swimwear will star in the Valentine fashion parade.

The small sons and daughters of the Pixie Parents will be modeling charming children's fashions perfect for Valentine gifts and thinking ahead for an early Easter.

Pre-schoolers who accompany their mothers to the Fashion Focus luncheon will find Valentine surprises at their place and their own menu from which to order luncheon.

Asking "Won't You Be My Valentine?" next Tuesday will be models Mrs. Jack Brandon, and daughter, Joan; Mrs. William Roddy and son, William; Mrs. A. G. Falk and son Donald; Mrs. William Hagler and son Richard; Mrs. Jerry Mathis and daughter Melani; Mrs. Peter Robichaud and daughter Nicoli; Mrs. Walter Noll and daughter Melinda; Mrs. Luciano Sabella and daughter, Lisa.

Mrs. Stan Mertel of Pixie Parents is working with Marion Bellamy, coordinator of the Fashion Focus series, to make the special Valentine luncheon a happy time for the luncheon guests.

One of Marin's distinctive new hair salons, Penthouse Coiffures of Kentfield, is planning fetching Valentine hairdo's for the models and Beauty Counselors Gai Fleming and Frances Grimes are the Tuesday makeup artists.

Luncheon is served at 12:30 and the fashion show will begin at 1 o'clock. The popular series is open to the public. Reservations may be made by calling Ricky's Rancho Rafael.

'WON'T YOU BE MY VALENTINE? says little Richard Hagler, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hagler to Melanie Mathis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mathis. The two tots will be modeling in the Tuesday focus show. (Independent-Journal photos)

Mt. Carmel P-TG Meet Set Monday

"Reading and Arithmetic" will be the subject of a talk to be given by the Rev. Mother Paula Marie Monday at 8 p.m. for the meeting of Parent-Teachers Group of the Mill Valley Mt. Carmel School.

The Rev. Mother has expressed the opinion that "these are the things most parents are interested in."

Her remarks will supplement those made by Sister Mary Patricia at the P-TG meeting preceding the holidays on "Parents' contribution toward helping their children get better report cards."

Highlights of Sister Mary Patricia's talk were:

(1) Is an average child a below normal child? Don't set up conflicts—C is an average grade. But we should not accept less than the child is capable of giving.

(2) Parents should help the child understand that he earns his own mark.

(3) Give the child material—help him locate good books.

(4) Try to provide a quiet atmosphere for study, though a child can apparently overcome any atmosphere judging from "the way he can tune the teacher in or out!"

(5) A child should be able to do his own home work. The exception is a very slow child gifted in other ways.

(6) When you do help, give "reasonable and seasonable help."

The meeting will be held at the Mt. Carmel School, and refreshments will be served under the direction of Mrs. John Gatfield and Mrs. William Love.

Group Will Speak At Tuesday Meet Of Ross P-TA

A group of noted citizens will be guest speakers at Tuesday night's meeting of the Ross Grammar School P-TA, discussing topics of major importance to all Ross students, parents and residents.

Dr. Harold Lyon's talk will concern fluoridation; Robert E. Shore, teacher consultant at the Adeline Kent Grammar School, will tell of the gifted child program now in use at that school. Walter Busher, county probation officer, will discuss the problem of the juvenile delinquent; Charles Doyle of Ross will report on the progress of the proposed summer recreation program for Ross school children, and Mrs. Miriam Drogie, first grade teacher at Ross, will discuss "Homework—Too Much Or Too Little."

Following their individual reports the group will act as a panel and answer questions from the floor.

In honor of the Ross P-TA'S Founders Day, birthday cakes and coffee will be served in the school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. at which time Mrs. Kenneth Dunn, president of the Ross Valley P-TA Council, will present certificates to Mesdames Thomas Mulvin, Richard Havel, Frank Keaton, Erwin Osterloh, George Shistar and Lester Bricca for their completion of a special P-TA information course.

UPPEC Card Party

The UPPEC will hold a card party on Sunday at 2 p.m. at the IDESI Hall in Novato. Mrs. Tony Ferrera is chairman of the event.

Park School P-TA Program Series To Begin Tuesday

"Who Really Runs Our Schools" will be discussed by Robert McConnell, superintendent of the Mill Valley School District, at Park School's Parent-Teacher Assn. coffee hour Tuesday night.

Points to be covered will be (1) constitutional basis (2) public school organization under federal, state and local controls (3) community organization, especially in the Mill Valley School District, administration and faculty, and (4) role of citizen, individual responsibility and influence.

P-TA president Mrs. Norman Ortman urges fathers as well as mothers to attend this first program of a series of three designed to acquaint the community with basic information concerning the district's public schools.

The hospitality committee under the direction of chairman Mrs. Robert Knapp will serve a "He-Man Pie" at 7:45 p.m., and coffee will be served throughout the question and answer period.

TWA Advisor To Speak At 'Foreign Flair'

Mrs. Theodore Lilienthal, chairman of Sir Francis Drake High School's fund raising event, "Foreign Flair," a dessert fashion show scheduled for Feb. 28, announced today that an exciting new personality will be present for one of her outstanding demonstrations on "How to Pack a Suitcase" in the person of TWA's Women's Travel Advisor, Mary Gordon. Miss Gordon wil perform in addition to the witty commentary of Paul Speegle and the fashions of Sarrae's and Netboy's of San Rafael.

In the course of her globe-circling duties, Miss Gordon believes in the policy "when in Rome, do as the Romans do." She has been known to ride "jaunting cars" in Ireland, "carozzas" in Rome, has skied in Switzerland, and gone by camel in Cairo. Hailing from California, Miss Gordon was a home economics major at the University of California. Her work includes lecturing to women's clubs, radio and TV shows, and maintaining an extensive correspondence with women all over the world. Typical leaflets written by Miss Gordon include "Basic Wardrobes," "Traveling Solo," "Traveling with Tots," and "Shopping Abroad."

Proceeds from this event will not only go to aid Sir Francis Drake students going overseas this year, but also toward the P-TA scholarship program.

Advertising Official Speaker At OWC Luncheon, Feb. 12

A large attendance is expected at the Feb. 12 luncheon of the Officers' Wives Club at Hamilton Air Force Base when Robert R. Gros will be the speaker. Gros, a public relations and advertising executive in San Francisco, has titled his talk "Interviewing Highlights." He will draw on his extensive background as world traveler, interviewer, and commentator as he presents word portraits of world figures.

A Stanford graduate, Gros has criss-crossed the globe many times in 20 years of seeking news at its source. In 1955, he was one of the first Americans to travel as a private individual behind the Iron Curtain, and interviewed both workers and high-placed officials. Often he has accompanied military chiefs as they traveled to conferences in areas of world crisis.

Gros is a special consultant to the American Council on NATO. A year ago he was given "Second Honor Award" by the Freedoms Foundation for a speech "Make Mine America." In May of last year he received the "Distinguished Public Service Award," highest civilian decoration, for pro bono publico service to the U.S. Navy.

Wives of officers of the 28th Air Division (Defense) are hostesses for the luncheon which will be in the ballroom of the Officers' Club. Mrs. Curtis R. Low is general chairman, and Mrs. Horace P. Easley is her assistant. Other members of the committee are program, Mrs. Guy J. Sherrill; menu, Mrs. Howard A. Cheney; publicity, Mrs. O. T. Unger; decorations, Mrs. August Delison; and hostesses, Mrs. G. A. Holland.

MEMBERS OF THE various committees for the Feb. 12 Officers' Wives Club luncheon at Hamilton Air Force Base include, first row, left to right, Mesdames Howard A. Cheney, H. P. Easley and Curtis L. Low. Back row, O. T. Unger, August Delison and G. A. Holland. (Air Force photo)

Judith Diment, Robert Shannon Are Wed In St. Brendan's Rites

St. Brendan's Church in San Francisco was the setting for the recent wedding of Judith Ann Diment, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Kester Diment of Kentfield and San Francisco, and Robert John Shannon, son of Mrs. Raymond Shannon of Fort Bragg and the late Mr. Shannon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length white imported Italian peau de soie gown re-embroidered with Alencon lace and sequins and seed pearls on the bodice and skirt. It was fashioned with a scoop neckline, short sleeves and semi-cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a coronet with inlays of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white butterfly orchids.

Mrs. Dennis Sullivan, the bride's cousin, of Hillsborough, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Duncan of San Mateo, Louise How of Hillsborough and Jan Auletti, Caroline Fechter and Sue Gray, all Delta Gamma Sorority sisters of the bride at Berkeley.

The attendants were all gowned in emerald green peau de soie with emerald leaf headdresses and short veils. They carried bouquets of red camellias.

Ushers were Zeta Psi fraternity brothers of the bridegroom at Berkeley. They included the Messrs. Dwight Barker, Gerald Abbott, Gilbert Davis, William McCubbin, Jay Diment, the bride's brother, and Charles Green.

Southern California was the destination of the wedding trip.

The bride was graduated from the Katherine Delmar Burke School and the University of California where she was a member of Delta Gamma Sorority.

The bridegroom was also graduated from the University of California where he was affiliated with Zeta Psi fraternity. He is now attending the University of San Francisco.

The couple will reside in San Francisco.

Cooking Lessons To Begin Feb. 12 At Fanjeaux Hall

"Come into the Kitchen with Edith Green" is the invitation of the Marin Chapter, Dominican College Alumnae Assn. to all and sundry interested in good food. The kitchen will be at Fanjeaux Hall on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael, where a series of four cooking classes under the direction of Edith Green will be held beginning Thursday, Feb. 12 and continuing for the following three Thursdays. The sessions will start at 10:30 a.m. and end at 12 noon.

This year's series of cooking lessons will range from simple "quick tricks" prepared from foods on hand in the freezer, to "that special dinner party" which will include a delectable recipe for caneton a L'orange, a recipe which can be used for the domestic variety of duck or be adapted to the wild mallard or teal shot by the master of the house. In addition, Mrs. Green will lay particular stress on meatless dishes particularly suited to the Lenten season and, looking forward to summer and patio dining, on hearty casserole dishes which the hostess may prepare early and enjoy at leisure outdoors with her family and guests.

Mrs. Green, whose cooking school was sponsored last year also by the Marin Chapter of the Dominican College Alumnae Assn., is now celebrating the twentieth anniversary of her cooking school. In addition, she conducts a television cooking program, has collaborated with Dr. Leona M. Bayer of Stanford University Medical School on the book "Kitchen Strategy," now in its fourth edition, and has appeared on numerous public programs for educational, civic and club groups. During her college years she tutored French, philosophy and logic at Mills College, where she took degrees in French and philosophy.

She has adapted recipes she collected in her European travels to the American kitchen and, while she stresses the creative in cooking, she is ever mindful of the food budget and the problems it presents in this era of high costs and increasingly large families.

A SERIES OF FOUR cooking classes under the direction of Edith Green will begin Thursday, Feb. 12, sponsored by the Dominican College Alumnae Assn. Mrs. Green is now celebrating the twentieth anniversary of her cooking school and conducts a television program.

Mrs. Ray L. Hamilton, 1456 Grand avenue, San Rafael, who is reservations chairman, suggests that anyone interested in attending the cooking school get in touch with her immediately as the number that can be accommodated is strictly limited.

Secrecy In School Elections Leads To Serious Problems

Elections in Marin's high schools are completed for another term. Once again, the school authorities have decided that it is best for the candidates and the students if they know only who won, not by how much.

This year, the anachronism of holding democratic elections in a cloud of secrecy became even more apparent in two instances which came to our attention.

First of them was in a class election. One of the candidates for class president worked hard and felt he had a pretty good chance of winning. But after the secret ballot counting session, he was informed that he had lost. No vote totals were given.

Disappointed, the boy went home that night and picked up the Independent-Journal. There was a news story about the election. Startlingly it said that he had been elected.

Next day at school he went to those in charge and asked about the story in the paper. This brought about a confused situation, which eventually resulted in a recount of the ballots.

And sure enough, he had won. He is now the class president.

The other incident deals with a phase of the secrecy which school officials seem to overlook completely. The authorities argue that it is bad for a youth who has lost an election to know by how much he was defeated. It might discourage him from running again, they say, or might lead to kidding from his contemporaries.

In this case there were more than two candidates for the position, in fact there were four. The boy about whom we know was told he had been one of the two high candidates, that no candidate had received 50 per cent of the vote.

Both our friend and his opponent faced a peculiar situation. They did not know if they were ahead or behind their rival. They didn't know if they had received 49 per cent of the vote or only 25 per cent. They couldn't judge whether their campaign had been partly successful or nearly successful. In fact, they couldn't evaluate their efforts to date at all.

Then something happened which should cause the school authorities to reconsider the effects of vote secrecy. A friend of this candidate, who had been on the vote counting board, broke down enough to tell our friend that he had been the leading candidate, but wouldn't say how far ahead our friend was.

It doesn't matter whether our friend won or lost in the final voting. What is pointed up here is that students in high school are being subjected to such unreasonable secrecy that they are willing to at least partly break their sworn word to give factual information to a friend.

Can't the educators see what a terrific burden they place on the students who do the counting? And what for? It gives them a completely erroneous idea of the democratic process.

And as far as not having a loser run again, how is the loser to judge whether he has political presence? Maybe he shouldn't run again, but channel his desire for leadership into other channels.

Isn't that one of the things that schools could teach?

Botanist's Paradise

Marin is unique among counties in the United States in the great variations of rainfall which occur within a small area.

For example, Kentfield, only a mile from San Rafael, receives roughly half again as much rain as the latter city. There are numerous similar examples.

This great variation in rainfall makes Marin a paradise for the botanist. To him it means that a great number of "life zones" are compressed into a small area. This makes it possible for him to study many kinds of plants without having to travel great distances.

But one does not have to be a botanist to appreciate and enjoy Marin's varied plant life. It is available to anyone with the eyes to see Marin's bounty.

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

Many An Office Worker Grows Old Trying To Look Busy

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the hardest things to kill successfully is — time.

It is a particularly tough problem in the modern business office. There the average man or woman has to spend eight hours doing work he could actually do in three hours.

The chances are, however, that you will find at least some of the following typical examples of time-wasters in your own office:

THE ENDLESS WANDERER—All day long he wanders from the desk to the water cooler to the rest room—then back to his desk for five minutes, and on to the water cooler again. At 40 he has kidney trouble and fallen arches.

THE GROUNDHOG — He crawls into a tunnel in the pile of debris on his desk, and emerges only at lunch and quitting time.

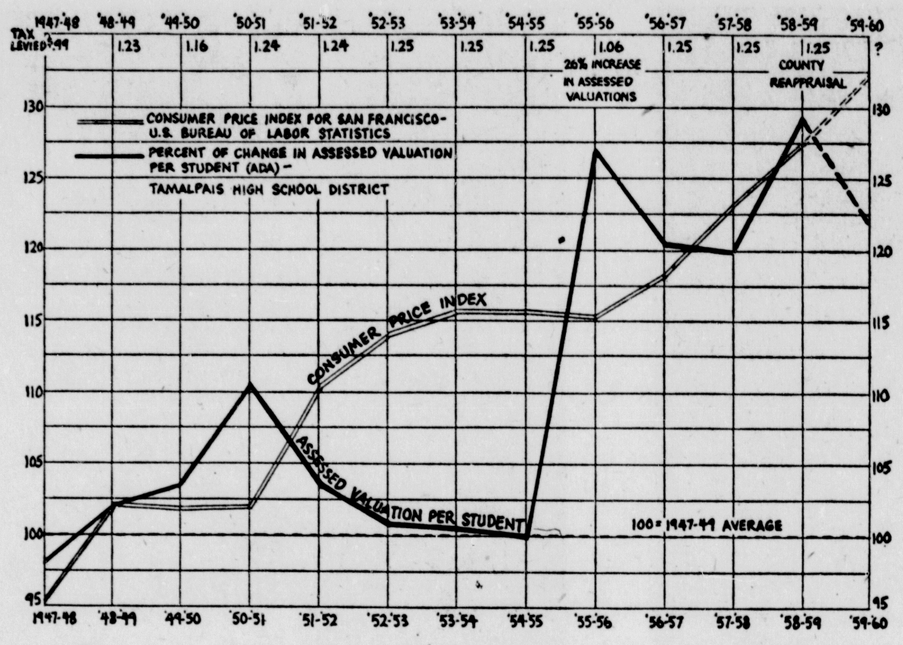
THE DUTCH WIFE — If cleanliness were godliness, this guy would sit at the right hand of the heavenly throne. He cleans his desk, his telephone, his swivel chair, his memo pad — and still has two hours left to devote to polishing his spectacles.

THE HYPOCHONDRIAC — He wastes so much time taking pills to improve his health that he ends up too sick to be fired.

THE OPEN-EYED SLOTH— He appears to be studying some office figures. Actually he is daydreaming, with his eyes wide open, of the girl he lost in kindergarten.

THE POOR DECEIVER — This poor fellow is so dumb he can't think of anything to do except to make paper airplanes and sail them out the window. He is off the payroll in two weeks.

THE COFFEE BREAK ARTIST — He can make a 15-minute coffee break last longer than a Roman orgy, but somehow he never gets caught. He is the secret office hero.



TAM'S DOLLARS AND INFLATION — This chart (Graph 1) shows the heart of the Tam District's financial problem: Student population, since 1950-51, has increased faster than the normal increase in property values and is continuing to do so. Only the blanket increase of 26 per cent in assessed valuations in 1955 and the county reappraisal in 1958 have prevented financial disaster long ago. By next year the problem will be acute, with prices continuing to rise and valuations per student declining.

REPORT ON TAM SCHOOL DISTRICT

Does Tam District Actually Need To Increase Its Tax Ceiling?

Does Tamalpais Union High School district need a tax increase?

This is a major question, one that for the third time in one year is puzzling the voters of the district.

A study conducted by the League of Women Voters, which prepared this series of articles, shows:

1—The district's three schools are among the top one per cent of high schools in the country according to standard testing procedures.

2—It seems clear that the taxpayers can afford to pay the bill to keep them on top.

Yet it is also evident that last May and November, the majority of the voters were not convinced that a tax increase was necessary.

QUESTION: In 1954 and 1955 the trustees told us the educational program couldn't be maintained without a $1 increase in the tax rate. Both times the voters turned the increase down — and the program DIDN'T suffer. Why can't they do it again?

ANSWER: In 1955 the across-the-board increase in valuations required by the state increased tax revenues more than enough to cover the need. (See Graphs I and II)

QUESTION: Aren't there economies that could be made without serious damage to the program?

ANSWER: Even the most vocal opponents of the increase have not been able to suggest any that have not already been made. The 1958 Grand Jury concluded that no substantial economies could be made. The business manager in the county school superintendent's office and an independent auditing firm of CPAs testify to the careful business management of the Tam District.

QUESTION: Should teachers' salary schedules be raised?

ANSWER: Leaving out any discussion of whether or not teachers deserve more pay, the real consideration is the necessity to hire teachers in a competitive market. Teachers are in short supply, and good teachers are scarcer than that.

The Tam District salary schedule is in the lowest fourth of 46 high school districts in the Bay Area. It's about $200 below the market at the minimum of $4,200 and $1,000 low at the maximum of $7,500.

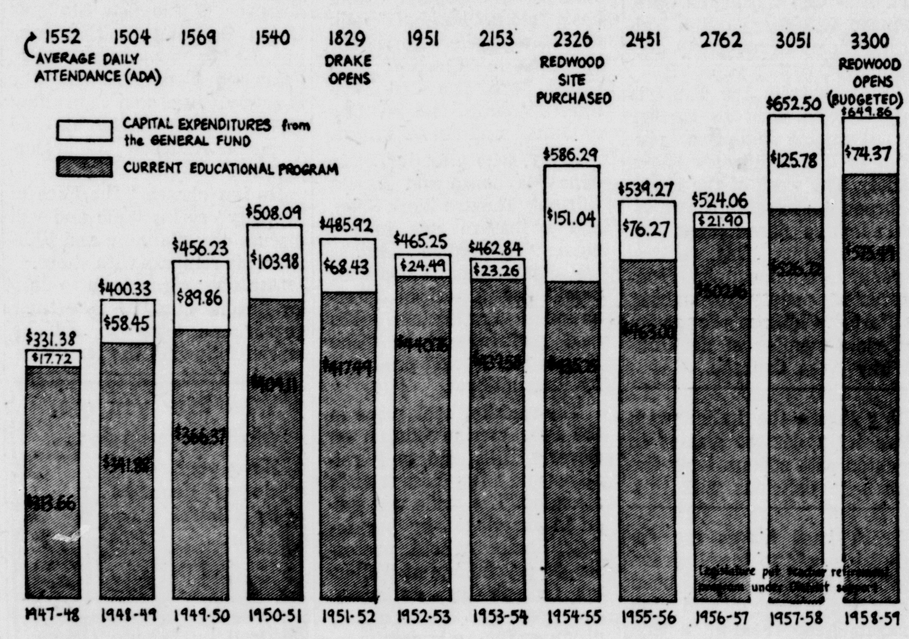
QUESTION: Why a special election?

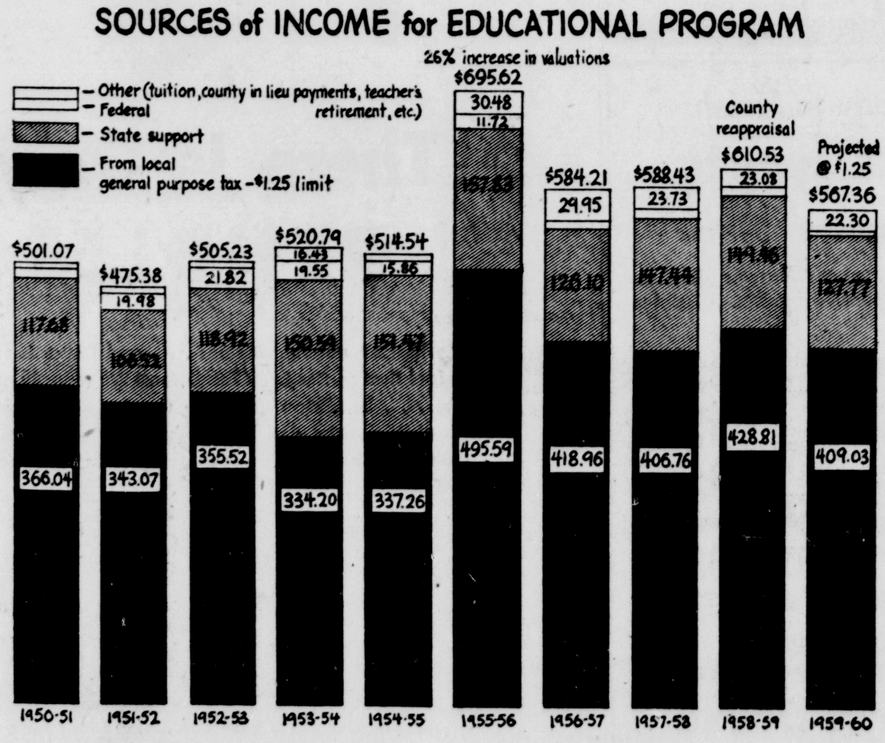
ANSWER: Contracts with teachers are signed in the early spring. If present standards are to be maintained, 11 or 12 new teachers will be needed for the nearly 400 more students expected next year. Only if the increase passes now will it be possible to hire any additional teachers, or to raise the salary schedule to competitive levels.

DOES THE TAM HIGH district really need a tax increase?

The evidence says Yes—unless we're willing to settle for really major cuts in the educational program, settle for second rate high schools in the Tam District.



EDUCATIONAL COST PER STUDENT—Seventy per cent of the operational costs of the high school program in the Tam District go to teachers' salaries, books and supplies. Administration is charged for 5 per cent, operation and maintenance 15 per cent, and auxiliary services like counseling, insurance and teachers' retirement, the remaining 10 per cent. Capital expenditures, as indicated on Graph 2 above, include furniture, typewriters, microscopes and the like, the Redwood High site and part of the reconstruction of the Tam swimming pool. Not included are the bonds for construction of Drake and Redwood, community services expenses, earthquake-proofing of Tam, or the San Quentin adult program which is paid for by the state. Cost per student increased only 75 per cent from 1947-49 to the present.



WHERE MONEY COMES FROM—Comparing this Graph 3 with Graph 2 shows problem facing the Tam District. Even with the county reappraisal, the district's revenues came to only $610.53 per student as compared with a $652.50 expenditure. Next year, unless the tax increase is approved, the income will drop to $567.36 per pupil, making drastic cuts of nearly $100 per pupil necessary in next year's budget. The current budgets are being financed by using up all the district's reserve funds. State assistance is predicated on assessed valuation per student. Notice the big drop in state aid after the 1955 and 1958 valuation increases.

Corte Madera's Proposed Garbage Boost Isn't As Bad As All That

We were intrigued recently by the deliberations of the Corte Madera town council in granting of permission for a 25 cent base rate increase for garbage disposal by the Mill Valley Garbage Co.

Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow suggested at the meeting that denial of the request and calling for bids could even result in a higher rate than the requested $1.50.

DOING A LITTLE checking we found that the new Corte Madera rate, surprisingly enough, is about the same or lower than most other Marin cities.

San Rafael's lowest rate is about $1.60, while San Anselmo's $1.50 appears headed for a rise. Neighboring Larkspur residents pay a $1.60 base rate per week and as much as $2.60 at high elevations.

The only town we found with a cheaper base rate was Mill Valley, home of the scavenger firm, where it is $1.35 with a maximum of $2.10 for high elevations. Dwellers on the highest streets in Corte Madera now pay only $2.

SECRET OF THE low rates in the southern part of the county, farthest from the new Burdell dump near the Sonoma line, seems to be a favorable contract the Mill Valley firm has negotiated with a Richmond dump. So favorable that even with the high bridge tolls, operations are less costly than the haul to north of Novato.

INCIDENTALLY, A NEW light fixture may help Corte Madera residents get more services from their bright young town manager.

Brandow, it seems, recently found himself with a pair of aching eyes. It wasn't till later he found the demon was the solitary 150 watt bulb dangling from the ceiling of his cubby-hole in the old town hall annex.

A new fluorescent lamp now has taken the sandpapery feeling away, Art says.

IF YOU SEE another fellow wearing glasses on the street these days when he doesn't need them, its probably Oakley Dexter, Larkspur's television sales and service king.

Seems the violent opposition of a small number of Larkspur businessmen to the proposed Rice family development east of Magnolia avenue, has somewhat overflowed in his direction as chamber of commerce president.

Still game however, Dexter will preside over another round of "discussions" Monday night at city hall. We won't be too surprised if he comes decked out in padding and football helmet. It should be quite a meeting.

WHILE MOST of you Marin folk were no doubt "suffering" your way through the warmth of last weekend, your reporter was one who packed camera, wife, kids and dog to stomp the snows of the Sierra.

It didn't take long to find out however that stompable snow is a rather scarce commodity in the Sierra ridge these days.

Despite the chill 10 degrees at dawn in our parked station wagon, snows around the mountain towns of Westwood and Portola were sparse.

We even heard that Burney residents "were walking around on the ground." In the McCloud region in February that's rare.

One hope we saw for snow lovers was Highway 40 between Cisco and Truckee, where there was enough of the white stuff that a busload of Stanford rooters couldn't steal it.

So, barring a deluge, it looks like Marin winter birds will have to head for the very high country this weekend for action.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Need Time On Mental Health

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Congratulations on your much needed editorial last Saturday — re mental health in Marin. It surely served to correct the "planted" attitude that said program is wholeheartedly accepted, signed, sealed and delivered, here in our county. . . .

First of all, it was common knowledge that no action was to be taken at Tuesday night's (Jan. 27) open meeting before the Board of Supervisors. Yet — a motion to appoint the committee was pushed through like an invincible armored tank — plowing under any suggestions that more time be alloted for unbiased education on the part of the lay public (the tax-payers, that is) — with an opportunity to hear speakers on both sides of the issue.

This committee appointment was to be made, according to a statement from the board — on the Tuesday next, Feb. 3. Yet, on Jan. 28, as you of course well know, the list of names being considered appeared in the I-J. . . .!

And — a very limited list it is — 12 names comprise it, to be exact — 12 —! Hardly representative of the Marin populace!

Then one wonders just whose personal interests and one-sided perspective provided that list.

What's more, it must be known to you, too, that a great proportion of the persons with names on that provided list stood up and vehemently declared in favor of the mental health plan. Surely a committee whose purpose is to study, advise and educate should be comprised of proponents and opponents for check-mate and balanced-perspective purposes. It's for sure persons prejudiced in favor of an issue aren't likely to perceive — much less point out—pit-falls involved.

Those of us concerned with the possibility of some startlingly solemn aspects inherent in The Mental Health Plan — financially, morally and — politically—desperately want to learn "the facts, Ma'am." We want time to hear fully informed speakers on "both sides of the fence," time to ask questions and time for sober consideration. . . .

Like the majority of the graduates of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., all of the men are employed. Mrs. Bailey is a housewife and Miss Cunningham a high school student.

AF Publicity Aides Form Wine Society

The "Order of Armed Services Wine Tasters" has been formed of information officers at Bay Area military installations to foster "good fellowship and develop a knowledge of wines."

Maj. Harvey Yorke, 4th Air Force information officer and co-founder of the fraternity, said the idea was born at a conference of information officers at Hamilton Air Force Base last month.

It was suggested, Yorke said, by a reserve officer, Maj. Philip Hiaring of San Anselmo, who (surprise!) is a publicist for the Wine Institute.

A charter was signed by Maj. Gen. Sory Smith, commander of the 4th Air Force, and the organization was formally begun.

"Wine tasting is fun," Major Yorke said, "but it is also something we intend to take seriously. It is at once for the group's pleasure and edification. We hope to become experts at selecting the best possible wine in any given wine producing area.

"Groups usually work best in limited numbers—say, 20 or 30 people—and it is always taken in an educational and adult vein and never because the wine is free," he emphasized.

About five meetings a year are planned by the research-minded officers, said Major Yorke. And at each, it is expected that some winery will present various kinds of wine for the edification of the military taste.

Hamie's Becoming Trader Horn; Le Chateau Gets New Chef

Some hurried improvements are being injected into 821 Francisco boulevard, San Rafael — now to be known as Trader Horn. Treatments may result in restoring it to the front ranks of popular Marin restaurants.

No more chuck wagon meals or cart wheels on the roof. Its operation will follow more closely along the lines of successful dineries. Extensive architectural remodeling will probably be restrained until it sets a steady pace, but within the next few days a new outdoor sign should adorn the facade. Until then, if you knew the spot as Hamie's—that's it.

Hamie Holman, of course, doesn't have anything to do with it any more. New potentate is none other than Fred Horn of Sleepy Hollow, once known as Trader Horn in the East Bay, and now donning the sobriquet again for another venture in restaurants—a field, by the way, with which he has been identified for many years.

At this writing Fred was negotiating with a name chef from San Francisco and a rather well known maitre d' to assume the far from trifling tasks of promoting cuisine and service in the manner to which he is accustomed.

I do know that he plans something in the way of the always popular Joe's type of operation. Changes toward this end have already been made. You can visit it this very moment and see and taste the difference.

Trader Horn is open seven days a week. Lunches 11 a. m. to 3 p. m., dinners 5 to 11 p. m.

LE CHATEAU has a new chef, and I do not use the term lightly.

Les Johnston is a member of the Chefs de Cuisine Assn. of California, which carries a certain mark of distinction. More than that—he hails from New Orleans and everyone knows this is a place famous for fine French cooking.

Now don't expect any immediate and radical changes in the menu at Le Chateau as a consequence. I'd say that Les' particular talents will make themselves first known in the preparation and seasoning of dishes already on the list.

However, he did mention a favorite of his—tenderloin tips en casserole—which may be an early addition. And he did say something about roast Long Island duckling, lobster thermidor and baked Alaska.

Come to think about it, there may be quite a few changes at that.

LARGE STEAKS are not always an attraction for some diners. If the appetite isn't there maybe you don't like to pay the price for what you can't eat.

It's worth while, therefore, checking into the $2.50 dinner at West End Villa with its small dinner steak. This is a top sirloin cut, tender and juicy. Along with what goes with it I guess it's one of the most popular items on the bill of fare.

Something else that's good there, too—banana fritters.

West End has an excellent small banquet and party room —seats 25 quite comfortably without your having to put your elbows in your neighbor's soup. For business meetings of say six to eight people, ask Pete Ostaggi or Nola Shanahan about using the back room.

SMORGASBORD. The count isn't final but it looks like better than a $400 take from the Rancho Nicasio dinner last Saturday night to go to the March of Dimes . . . This weekend marks the second anniversary of Enrico's Restaurant in Fairfax. No fanfare—just thanks to everyone for keeping it going. And thanks to you, too, Enrico and Edna Croce, for keeping us coming . . . Corky Jones is hostessing now on weekends in the cocktail lounge at Rubini's . . . Most paisanos I've talked to give credit to Marin Joe's eatery for the best all round Italian food in the county.

THIS GROUP at last Tuesday's style show in Rickey's Rancho Rafael consisted of 13 West Germans, one Swede, one Englishman and one American who was conducting the tour.

They had drifted in for lunch the day before and liked it so well they decided to come back for more.

Engineers all, they have been traveling throughout America studying our methods of manufacturing pre-cast, reinforced concrete. The fact that they landed at Rickey's the same day as the style show, they said, was coincidental.

I dunno—it could have been entirely premeditated — even part of the regular tour.

Seems to me it was as nice a place as any to make a study of stresses and forms.

Eartha Kitt Powerful In 'Anna Lucasta'

By LESLIE DARD

"Anna Lucasta," which comes to the Rafael Theatre in San Rafael on Sunday, marks the transition to drama for two of America's leading entertainers, Eartha Kitt and Sammy Davis Jr.

Miss Kitt portrays a young lady of tarnished virtue who is to be married off to a young man with $4,00^ Cynical, impudent, perhaps too experienced, she wants only to make off with the money. But ultimately, she falls for her victim.

ROWDY SAILOR

Davis appears as a rowdy sailor who tries to talk Anna (Miss Kitt) into sharing his own idea of unwedded bliss.

"Anna Lucasta" is a vivid film, a tragi-comedy of American middle class life which makes good use of natural settings. The fact that it has an all-Negro cast is not a stunt, for once the story is under way, I suspect you'll be caught up by the activities of the Lucastas.

EARTHA PRAISED

The drama is admittedly artificial, but it is high powered. The reason it has force and appeal is the performance of Miss Kitt. She has a vast range of emotion, touching, sympathetic, brash and vicious. And her singing voice, which she uses three or four times, is an effective counterpoint to her dramatic performance.

Her toughness and sensuality make her repugnant, appealing —and yet true.

She gets able comedy assistance from Frederick O'Neal as her shrewd, double-talking brother-in-law, the man who dreams up the plot to marry her off to a yokel for cash; Rex Ingram, as her father, who had wanted Anna to become a "little lady," and a gallery of wonderfully realized characters who add to the humor of the film.

New Operator For May's Restaurant

May's Restaurant at 60 Corte Madera avenue, Corte Madera, this week was leased to a new operator.

Mrs. Mae Estby of 62 Corte Madera avenue, owner for four years, said she has leased the restaurant to Mrs. Betty Lee Sidari of 320 Willow avenue, Corte Madera.

Mrs. Sidari has been a restaurant manager in San Francisco for 20 years. She is a member of Larkspur Circle 166, United Ancient Order of Druids, and of the Marin Rod and Gun Club.

CHINATOWN CELEBRATION

Children in San Francisco's Chinatown take a particular delight in the annual Chinese New Year Festival, scheduled this year from Feb. 13 to 15. Here Shirley Wong and Ricky Der drum a serenade for Sze Tze, the magnificent lion, while Virginia Der and Maxine Wong take the parts of baby lions. Sze Tze will drive out evil spirits in preparation for the 4657th year of the lunar calendar, the Year of the Boar, and will "eat" hundreds of dollar bills hung on the front of stores and residences for the benefit of the Chinese Hospital. Then he will co-star in the Feb. 14 parade with the Chinatown dragon. Dances, art and painting exhibits, Chinese plays and other entertainment are also planned.

Study Shows Link Of Smog To Lung Cancer

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new statistical study likely to sharpen the interest of city dwellers in the air they breathe reveals a close connection between the amount of air pollution and the number of people who die of lung cancer, bronchitis and cancer of the stomach.

It also suggested an explanation for the fact that the death rate for stomach cancer has been steadily declining in the United States but not elsewhere. In the United States most foods reach the consumers tightly packaged or wrapped, which protects the food from pollution—from air or anything else.

PURE STATISTICS

The study was of particular interest to scientists because it was purely statistical—devoid of human elements which introduce those variables that statisticians find hard to "control." This statistician, Dr. Percy Stocks, had three sets of statistics to work with. They were:

1. The air pollution indexes for about 50 communities in England and Wales.

2. The population densities of those communities as measured by the number of people per acre.

3. Their five-year death rates for bronchitis and various cancers.

TWO INDEXES

His indexes were to the two phases of air pollution. The most obvious is the amount of foreign substances, such as chemical particles suspended in the air because of incomplete combustions in furnaces and automobile engines. The other is the amount of these substances which the air deposits on everything it touches—which is everything.

He found that the higher these indexes were for any given community, the higher was its death rate from bronchitis and cancers of the lungs and stomach. Breaking this down further, he found that bronchitis was significantly correlated with air-made deposits of foreign substances, whereas lung cancer correlated with smoke-polluted air.

All statistical studies of lung cancer incidence have revealed distinct differences between country districts, where the air is fairly pure, and cities where it definitely isn't. The Stocks study had an interesting sidelight which was that country districts which had city smoke blown over them regularly had higher lung cancer rates than those without this wind-borne connection with cities.

2 Students Win Awards For English

Marilyn Myers, a senior at Sir Francis Drake High School, and Stephanie Rodrigo, a senior at Redwood who attended Drake last year, was awarded certificates for high quality achievement in high school English for 1958-59.

The Drake department of English was also awarded a certificate for "evidence of excellence in its instructional program."

The awards were made by the National Council of Teachers of English on the basis of work in writing performance which was submitted by the English department.

Miss Myers' and Miss Rodrigo's names will be sent to colleges and universities by the NCTE with recommendation that they be considered for an appropriate scholarship.

Teen Violence Mars Mardi Gras Festivity

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Police, bolstered by auxiliary patrolmen, will continue their fight tonight to control teen-age gangs threatening violence along jammed Mardi Gras parade routes.

Fights and other lawlessness again marred last night's parade of the Krewe of Momus.

Hermes, a group which usually puts on one of the more colorful parades, has the spotlight tonight, using the theme "Ali Baba and the 40 Thieves."

Officers arrested 60 persons for various offenses last night. Twenty-six were juveniles.

Twenty of the youths picked up were white. They were booked for various offenses, including refusal to move on, theft, carrying concealed weapons, fighting, and being loud and boisterous.

Reports that between 200 and 300 white boys were ganging together near the famed French Quarter looking for fights sent several squad cars into the area. Officers broke up the mob. Two Negroes and one white youth were arrested.

Judge Frees Couple Who 'Sold' Twin Boys

HOUSTON (UPI) — Officials were so touched by the troubles of the young couple who sold their 8-year-old twin boys for $500 that they dropped all charges against them.

Offers of help for the couple were put forward.

Dist. Atty. Dan Walton told Justice of the Peace W. C. Ragan yesterday "I see no purpose to be served in prosecuting these people. What they need is help. I recommend dismissal of the charges."

Ragan did just that.

"I've been hoping someone would make such a motion," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark D. Stillion yesterday turned over the twins, Mrs. Stillion's children by a previous marriage, to a policewoman and a juvenile officer who posed as a childless couple.

An attorney said a client, O. R. Tautenhahn, had offered the Stillion family a place to live near Westfield, Tex. He offered to help them find work.

Stillion said he had been unable to get a job and had been trying to feed his family on $12 a week.

"Our bedroom and clothes burned," Stillion said. "What do you do when you have $12 a week to feed six people —when you see your children hungry?"

"I tried to get a job but with no local references I just couldn't," he said. "With money (from the sale of the twins) we were going to get the car fixed and go out to Bridgeville, Calif., where a friend said I could work in a lumber camp."

Stillion said he knew the "bill of sale" for the twins was not legal, and planned to return and reclaim the boys when he got a new start.

They were reunited with their children, who had been kept in the police probation department, in the police press room.

Love Can Be Painful At 13, 14; Help With Problems By Listening

Love can be painful at 13 or 14. It doesn't last long but it hurts while it lasts. Let's look at young love.

Girls are afflicted first. Some girls have real crushes when they're only 11 or 12. They grow up faster than boys. They're ready for dates two or three years before boys. So girls chase boys. Do you have a 13-year-old daughter? Is she boy crazy? Probably. Don't worry too much. Protect her. But remember she's behaving normally. She isn't depraved.

Boys usually fall for girls when they're 14 or 15. Soon they're the ones who do the chasing. Girls then become cov- Have you noticed? Don't fight young love. It is part of growing up. It isn't nasty or wrong. Don't be sarcastic with your lovelorn one. Remember how easily hurt you were at this age? Your child is just as sensitive.

Try to help your youngster. Help her meet many nice boys. Have parties for her at home. Spend time with her. Be sure she knows the social graces. You should do the same for your boy, though more subtly. Many P-TA's have dancing classes. They're good for most kids. Your goal is to have your youngster become popular with a group of nice, responsible young people.

Be a good listener. Kids in love usually work out their own solutions to their problems, if they can talk with their folks about them. Set up reasonable rules. Rules for hours, dates, clothes, makeup, allowances, etc. Don't expect your child to be too different from the other nice kids of the gang. Be as patient as possible.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "My mother married again recently. I'm a girl of 17. My stepfather treats me like a child. He thinks I shouldn't get new clothes, wear makeup or dance. What can I do? E.M.

(A) Ask your mother to persuade your stepfather to let her be the one to guide and discipline you. Not many new stepfathers understand teenage girls. It takes time to develop the insights needed.

Gang Of Girl Sex Deviates Broken Up

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A sentence in the diary of a school girl led police to a gang of girl homosexuals, most of them pupils at Kansas City's Northeast High School.

Maj. Dorai Denison, head of the police juvenile bureau, said yesterday that 26 girls have been implicated in the gang, which met in an apartment near the school. Six girls have been questioned. Two have been arrested. No names have been released.

First tip on the gang came from the mother of a Northeast pupil who told school authorities she found this note in her daughter's diary: "I believe I am getting gay (homosexual) and it scares me."

A school official said an investigation uncovered a pattern of truancies among certain Northeast girls, and that three girls admitted membership in the gang.

Denison said all 26 involved were pupils or former pupils at Northeast. He said three older girls, 18, 21 and 23, apparently had enticed younger girls to the apartment for parties at which unnatural sex acts were performed.

Denison said the two girls arrested, aged 16 and 17, appeared at headquarters dressed in male clothing. They had close-cropped hair.

Brown Tells Program For Traffic Safety

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown wants the Legislature to crack down on bad drivers.

Brown, in a speech last night to the Los Angeles chapter of the National Safety Council, outlined a detailed traffic safety program which he promised he will submit to the Legislature.

The main points:

1. Adoption of what the governor called a "realistic speed limit" of 65 miles an hour on the open highway Brown said the present prima facie limit of 55 miles an hour is inadequate, outmoded and unrealistic. He said a flat 65 miles an hour limit would be "easy to enforce and it will be enforced vigorously but fairly and impartially."

RADAR FOR CHP

2. Permit the California Highway Patrol to use radar to help apprehend speeders. Brown said he will ask for funds to provide the CHP with at least 10 radar devices to measure the speed of a vehicle.

3. A mandatory blood sample test for persons suspected of drunk driving. Under present law, a blood test may be used only with the consent of the motorist. Brown wants a law to provide for suspension of a driver's license to anyone who refused to submit to a sobriety test.

4. A tougher definition of negligent driving, with stiffer penalties. The proposed law would say that any person who drives a vehicle without exercising ordinary care for the safety of persons or property would be guilty of negligent driving.

LICENSE SUSPENSION

5. Broader authority for the courts to suspend licenses. Brown said the courts should have discretion to suspend licenses for any moving violation. Now, courts may suspend only upon conviction of speeding or reckless driving.

6. Stricter controls over young drivers. The governor said many juvenile courts and authorities do not furnish state agencies with reports on traffic violations committed by those under 18. He said this should be changed and that young drivers should be equal in responsibility and accountability with adult motorists.

HIGHER STANDARDS

7. Higher standards for rural drivers. The governor said persons employed by farm labor contractors to drive trucks or buses to transfort farm workers should be licensed as chauffeurs.

8. Tough penalties for driving with a revoked license.

Brown told the Safety Council he has asked Robert I. McCarthy, the new chief of the Department of Motor Vehicles, to "remove from our highways those drivers who violate traffic laws."

Boys Locked In Home Die In Fire

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)— Two small boys, left alone in a padlocked home while their unemployed father looked for a job, died when fire destroyed the two-room dwelling.

Police quoted the father, Howard R. Boyd as saying he had left Stephen Edward, 3, and Jimmy Lee, 5, asleep on a couch while he went to hunt work. He said he had been without a job for 18 months.

His wife, Martha, 29, was at her job as a waitress at the time of the tragedy. She said she and her husband could not afford a baby-sitter.

Police said Boyd admitted padlocking the house despite warning four months ago from the Humane Educational Society not to leave the children unattended.

Slayer Of 3 Put In Isolation For Prison Outburst

Harvey M. Glatman, strangler of three women, yesterday started 10 days in isolation at San Quentin Prison for an outburst in his Death Row cell in which he ripped the radio earphones off the wall and broke a stool to pieces.

Glatman told the prison disciplinary committee he created the ruckus because he "didn't like being over there with condemned men," said Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff.

The 31-year-old Los Angeles television repairman admitted luring three young women into remote areas to take photographs, then raping and strangling them. He took pictures of the women during their death throes.

Airliner Crew Had No Hint Of Disaster

CHICAGO (UPI)—The American Airlines plane which crashed in New York's East River was "dead on" course and the crew had no hint of impending disaster, according to a crew member who was handling the throttle at the time.

Flight engineer Warren Cook, one of eight survivors of the Tuesday night crash which killed 65 persons, told his story of what happened in the cockpit of the ill-fated turbo-prop airliner to his wife, Flora.

INSTRUMENT MIXUP

Cook indicated that a mixup in reading new type altimeters in the Electra airliner might have been responsible for the crash.

The account was printed last night in a copyrighted Chicago Tribune story and by the Chicago Daily News.

Cook, who has been questioned several times by aviation officials, gave his wife virtually the same report as he gave investigators when she visited him at a New York hospital.

The Tribune quoted the 35-year-old airman from Aurora, Ill., as saying he was sitting between the two pilots maintaining 140 knots air speed as the big craft approached La Guardia Field.

CREW ASTOUNDED

The crew members were "completely astounded when the plane hit the water," Cook said. He said the pilot, Capt. Albert De Witt, "told me to maintain 140 knots air speed and that's what I was doing.

"So far as anyone of us knew, this was a perfectly routine aproach. We expected to break out of a cloud and see the runway lights ahead.

"The pilots were using the instrument landing system and were dead on. The next thing I knew we were in the water.

"The only thing I can suggest is that they might have had a mixup with those new altimeters. They are a new type and there was some difficulty reading them."

Cook told his wife the altimeters, which tell the pilot the plane's altitude, might have been misread because "it isn't easy to cross check between the pilot's and co-pilot's instruments in that big Electra cockpit."

Father Stabs 4-Year-Old Son To Death In Theater

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A woman screamed hysterically in the darkness: "He's killing my baby."

An usher snapped on the theater lights, and some 50 patrons turned in their seats. They saw Jose Longoria slashing wildly with a pocket knife at a small boy, his son, Steven.

The mother, Violet, 25, sobbing as she was taken to a hospital for treatment for shock, told police the story.

She and her husband were estranged. She and Steven were living with her parents. Longoria, 32, was released from jail last Thursday after serving time for drunken driving. He asked to meet her yesterday to discuss future custody of the boy.

The child sat enthralled by the movie, one specifically aimed at youngsters. His parents became more and more embroiled in a bitter discussion.

Suddenly, police said, Longoria flashed the knife.

A patron, David Cole, was the first to reach Longoria when the lights went on. The father offered no resistance.

Police said Longoria had told them he felt the child was under a bad influence.

"I love my son, but I'd rather have him dead than grow up to be a juvenile delinquent,' he said.

2 Seized In Utah For Possessing Gold Illegally

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secret Service headquarters announced today agents arrested two men in Salt Lake City last night on charges of illegally acquiring and holding gold in violation of the U.S. Gold Reserve Act.

Agents also seized an estimated $2,100 worth of semi-processed gold ore from a Salt Lake City assayer, who was not arrested.

A Secret Service spokesman identified the two men, scheduled to be arraigned in federal court in Salt Lake City this morning, as James Maughan, 37, and Thomas M. Montgomery, 29.

The Secret Service said an undercover agent had paid Maughan $150 as a down-payment on gold which, according to the Secret Service, Montgomery stole from Kennecott Copper Co., of which he was an employee, carrying it out in his lunchbox.

The Gold Reserve Act, passed in 1934, prohibits individuals from having gold in their possession except for authorized commercial, industrial and artistic uses.

Mosk Would Ask Death Penalty Ban

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk said yesterday he has assured Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) and Assemblyman Lester McMillan (D-Los Angeles) that he would, if asked, testify before the Legislature in favor of abolishing capital punishment in California.

Mosk said capital punishment does not deter potential murderers, noting that six states which have abolished it have no more homicides than the rest of the country.

"I'm just opposed to taking life whether the state takes it or an individual takes it," he said.

McMillan and Farr have been leaders in the fight against capital punishment.

Met Does 'Macbeth' First Time

NEW YORK (AP) — It took Verdi's "Macbeth" 112 years to get a Metropolitan Opera performance. But it looked last night, and sounded too, as though it had been worth waiting for.

There have been other presentations of this somewhat ungracious work in this city, and the new voice heard in it had also been heard in town before. But they were two firsts for the Met, and there were some very exciting perfections in both singer and production.

Soprano Leonie Rysanek made her Metropolitan debut as Lady Macbeth. Though the attractive young singer gave an angry and impassioned interpretation, she didn't quite drive on to that whiplash fury which Verdi worked into many pages of his score.

On the other hand she had some beautiful high notes and loud, too, that never wavered and never turned shrill. Every sound she uttered was a pleasure, and often her voice was completely lovely.

Leonard Warren had the title role, and, as always, his remarkably versatile voice responded to all his demands.

Carl Ebert staged the work, and Caspar Neher did costumes and sets. Both were here for the first time. Dimitri Mitropoulos began the preparation but, stricken ill, he was replaced by Erich Leinsdorf.

Firestone Wife Gets $129,000

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—A settlement of $129,000 cash was awarded Mrs. Lois Allen Firestone in her divorce yesterday from the son of the president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. of California.

The 23-year-old bride of one year charged Kimball Firestone with cruelty. The couple married in 1957 when both were Stanford students. They separated last July.

The settlement also included a $29,000 home near Woodside and stock in four companies.

KTIM's Kitty Started Her Radio Career Late

In the last 10 years she has built up an enviable record as KTIM's feminine moderator of radio debates on "hot" local issues and as a radio interviewer.

The Oppenheimers moved to Ross when their two red-haired daughters were of school age. Kitty (whose real name remains as a well-guarded secret) became one of the five founding members of the Marin Music Chest.

The family circle was broken unexpectedly in 1945 by the death of Mel Oppenheimer, Kitty's husband.

VARIED INTERESTS

Her sincere interest in her community helped to carry her through the next few difficult years as she continued to work for the Marin Music Chest, Red Cross, Ross Valley Players and Sunny Hills Orphanage. During these years her daughters married and Mrs. Oppenheimer became a grandmother.

One day in 1949, Kitty's telephone rang. The caller was Hugh Turner, manager of radio station KTIM.

At that time, the station broadcast a long Sunday afternoon concert. "It needed something," Turner said. That something proved to be Kitty.

RADIO DEBUT

With "Concert Intermissions" she did her first interviews of prominent Marin musicians and in the weekly 10-minute programs previewed upcoming music events.

Mrs. Oppenheimer today moderates the "Marin Sounding Board" each Thursday at 9 a.m., as well as broadcasting the KTIM "Women's Page" and an "Open House" of interviews.

PHENOMENON IN MUSIC

Record Companies Grow In Trice From 4 To 1,500

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A handful of years ago there were four record companies in the United States. Today there are more than 1,500.

No wonder record veterans exclaim the business has gone crazy!

Says one: "Any guy with a thousand dollars can start a record company. All he's got to do is pick up a foursome in a bar, take 'em to a recording studio, make a couple of sides, think up a name for his label, and he's in business."

Then he takes his record to a distributor in one or more of the major cities. If the distributor thinks the record might sell, he takes it on. It is sent to the local disc jockeys. If they take a shine to it, they play it over and over on the air, and the teen-agers start asking for the number in the music stores.

If this situation is repeated in city after city, the man who started with a shoestring can end up with a shoe store.

As might be expected, the established record firms are upset by this trend. They complain that distributors favor the shoestringers, who demand less royalty because they have no overhead. There are even dark hints that hits are created not by teen-age demand but by greasing the palms of disc jockeys and other hit-makers.

What has the teen-age revolution done to the record business?

The industry boomed from 7½ million dollars in 1939 to 400 million in 1957. Indications are that the record companies may have dropped in sales volume in 1958.

The reason is that teen-agers have virtually taken over the single-record market. Their kind of music is largely unappealing to adults, who buy the albums. For that reason, the major companies are putting more and more emphasis on the packaging of albums while the newcomers scramble to sell singles to the kids.

What about the teen-agers? Most observers believe the kids will increase their hold on pop records. Some see hope in the rising interest in Latin music and the big bands. But these are small glimmers in an otherwise dark picture for those who dislike teen-age music.
